LET'S GO CAROLINA!

With that familiar chant, Tar Heels everywhere are lined up and ready to go on another football expedition. If the trip turns out to be half as exciting as the last one, we may all wind up on the moon. This is a fantastic era in Tar Heel football. Bill Dooley and his men in Carolina blue have won two consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference championships and have been to three bowl games in a row. Those of us connected with the program take great pride in the accomplishments of our teams and look to the future with renewed hope and enthusiasm. This brochure is designed to serve as a guide for the expedition. Come with us and be a part of the magic of Carolina football.

Press-Radio-Tv

Carolina football is big, If you don't believe it, just look at the headlines.

The fighting Tar Heels have one of the largest and most enthusiastic press followings of any team in America. And the interest grows each season.

More than 65 stations in three states carry the Tar Heel Football Radio Network each year. Woody Durham, popular sportscaster at WFMY-TV in Greensboro, handles the play-by-play with Jim Heavner of WCHL Radio in Chapel Hill doing the color.

For the seventh consecutive year, The Bill Dooley Show will be televised across the state of North Carolina each Sunday. Play-by-play announcer Durham will serve as emcee on this show.

Every North Carolina daily covers the big Tar Heel games in Kenan Stadium. And each Tuesday during the season, most of the leading newsmen attend a press luncheon at The Pines Restaurant which features Coach Dooley. As many as eight radio and TV stations make tapes with the Coach at these luncheons.

Working press credentials for Carolina home games can be secured by contacting Jack Williams in the Office of Sports Promotion and Information. Requests are screened with care to insure a working press box. Children, wives and pets are not allowed in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers Association of America.

THE COVERS—University student photographer Tom Norby took the front cover pictures which illustrate the many facets of Carolina football. The photos show (clockwise from top) cheerleaders with The Victory Bell leading the Tar Heels onto the field; linebacker Terry Taylor (30) and a host of his buddies tackling an enemy ball-carrier; Coach Bill Dooley on the sidelines at a big game; the Carolina student section; and quarterback Nick Vidnovic barking the signals.

FEREBEE TAYLOR

CHANCELLOR

The Choncellor (right) with Cooch Dooley.

The No. 1 fan of the Carolina Tar Heels is the No. 1 man on campus—Chancellor N. Ferebee Taylor.

Since he assumed his present position in February 1972, Chancellor Taylor has followed Carolina teams with great interest, and he's had a lot to cheer about.

He was on the scene in El Paso, Texas, last December when the great Tar Heel football team came from behind in the closing minutes to defeat Texas Tech, 32-28, in the Sun Bowl.

"That was some ball game," said the Chancellor. "This Carolina team kept us guessing, but it always seemed to come through in the closing minutes of a game."

The Chancellor has seen other Carolina teams perform magnificently during his administration, too. He followed the Tar Heel basketball team to the national finals in Los Angeles in the first months of his term and has seen Carolina win two Carmichael Cups in succession for overall athletic excellence in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Football Coach Bill Dooley hails the Chancellor as the biggest booster of his program. "Chancellor Taylor is a firm believer in intercollegiate athletics, and I have found him to be most knowledgeable on sports," Dooley says.

The Chancellor feels that the Athletic Department is an important part of the total University and expresses a hope that all students will make use of what it offers, either as participants or as spectators.

"At Carolina, we will continue to strive for excellence in our athletic department just as we will in all other departments," Chancellor Taylor says.

Chancellor Taylor is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, receiving an A.B. in American History in 1942. He was the first Jackson Scholar at UNC (this scholarship was the first full four-year grant) and served as president of Phi Beta Kappa, making straight A's for three consecutive years.

He was also president of the University Club, speaker of the Student Legislature, and a member of the Order of the Golden Fleece and the Order of the Grail.

The Chancellor served in the Navy during World War II and reached the rank of lieutenant. After being released from active duty, he entered Harvard Law School and received the LL.B. cum laude in 1949.

He then enrolled in Balliol College at Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar, receiving his B.A. in philosophy, politics and economics in 1951. He received his M.A. from Oxford in 1955.

Chancellor Taylor then practiced law in New York City until returning to Carolina in the spring of 1968 as a visiting professor at the UNC Law School.

He was named administrative vice president of the Consolidated University in 1970 and served in that position until being unanimously selected by the Board of Trustees as the new Chancellor. He replaced J. Carlyle Sitterson.

In his administrative job with the Consolidated University, Chancellor Taylor had served as a legal advisor to the Consolidated University and had acted as a liaison between the Board of Trustees and its committees.

Chancellor Taylor is married to the former Louise C. Ellington and they have three daughters—Louise, 20; Sarah, 16; and Martha, 13.

HOMER RICE

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Homer Rice, Carolina's man in motion, is a winner and he has the record to prove it.

In less than five years since he became Director of Athletics at UNC, Rice has led the Tar Heels to the top rung of Atlantic Coast Conference athletics and has built the Carolina program into one of the best in America.

Last year, Carolina swept its third straight Carmichael Cup, the award given to the ACC school with the best overall record in athletics. Carolina had not won the award for five years until Rice arrived on the scene and put his magic to work.

Not only that. Under Rice's direction, Carolina was the national champion of composite ratings for football and basketball in 1972. The Tar Heel basketball team finished second in the polls and the football team 12th, giving UNC 14 composite points. UCLA was a close second.

But Homer Rice is really just getting warmed up. He works around the clock as he strives to help the Tar Heels reach other goals.

He admits that the Carmichael Cup is a top goal every year. "When I came to Carolina, I wanted to have the best overall athletic program in the ACC," he says. "That was sorta my No. 1 goal. It's a credit to our coaches and players that we have been the best the past three years. But we can't rest on our laurels. We're looking to the future."

Winning is old hat to Homer Rice. He has been a winner in every job he has undertaken. He revolutionized football offenses with the triple option in an illustrious coaching career. Now he's winning fame as an administrator.

On the national level, Rice serves on the prestigious NCAA Television Committee, is involved with the U.S. Congress as a member of the joint committee on athletics and education and serves on the NCAA Statistics and Classification Committee. He just recently was named to the executive committee of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

Homer Rice with his wife Phyllis.

This past summer, Rice revealed some of his motivational ideas and organizational talents as a guest lecturer at the National Athletic Directors' Management Institute in Colorado.

In the short time he has been in Chapel Hill, Rice has learned the folkways and the byways of varsity sports at Carolina and has revitalized (or maybe revolutionized) the athletic program here.

He has brought about more than 30 additions and improvements to facilities, has unified the athletic program and, in general, has taken steps to insure a bright future for Tar Heel athletics.

Rice has managed to do all this with an administrative style that is possibly unique among athletic directors. He rarely raises his voice except to cheer Tar Heel teams. He delegates authority readily and his art of getting things done is one of friendly persuasion rather than driving aggression. Those working with the athletic director respond warmly and effectively to this approach.

Carolina has a 14-sport men's varsity program and eight women's sports, one of the largest programs in the United States. "We invite every student on our campus to be a part of our program, either as a participant or as a follower of our teams," Rice says.

Rice, 46, is the third man to head the Carolina athletic program in 50 years. The late Coach Bob Fetzer was the first, serving from 1922 until 1951. Chuck Erickson succeeded him and held the job until his retirement in mid-1968.

A native of Ft. Thomas, Ky., Rice is the son of a Methodist minister.

After serving with the Navy in the Pacific in World War II, he attended Centre College and made the Little All-America team as a quarterback on the football team. He received an

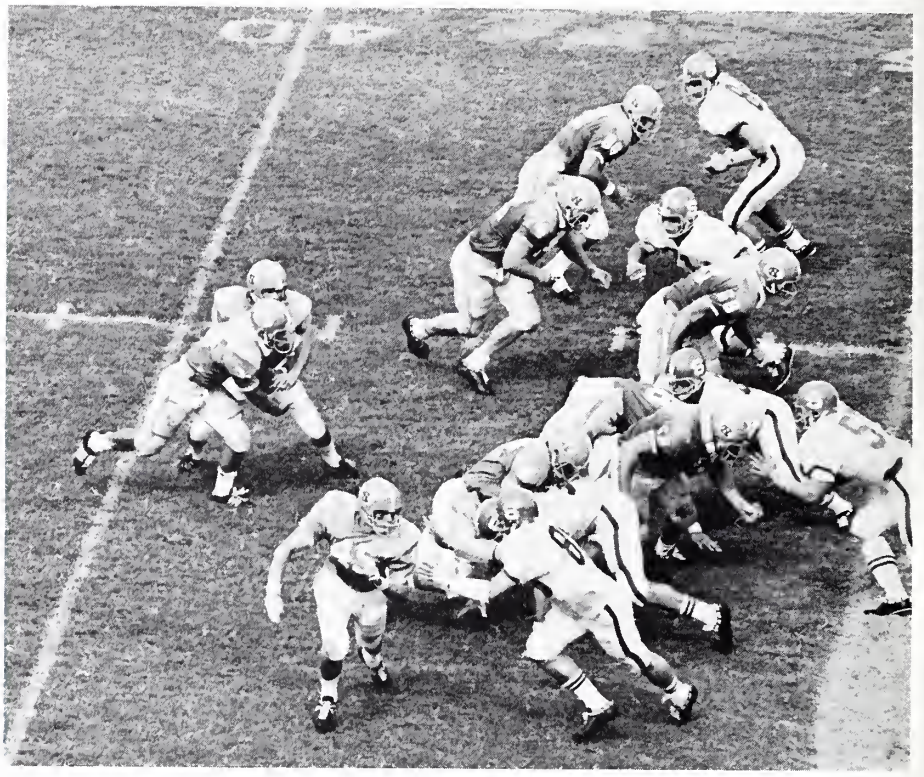
A Recap of the Greatest Season in Carolina's History . .



UNC TOPS SPIDERS IN SEASON OPENER

Carolina raced to a 21-0 third quarter lead and then coasted to a 28-18 season-opening win over Richmond at Kenan Stadium. Four different players scored touchdowns for the Tar Heels. Tommy Bradley opened the scoring with a two-yard run and Nick Vidnovic padded that lead with a dazzling 32-yard scamper. Four-yard runs by Johnny Klise and Billy Hite accounted for Carolina's other TDs. Hite ran for 86 yards to lead UNC in rushing. Richmond scored three times on pass plays to narrow the field margin. Lou Angelo had a brilliant day in the secondary for the Tar Heels.

TAR HEELS OUTLAST TERPS, 31-26

Jimmy DeRatt recovered a Don Ratliff fumble with 35 seconds left in the game to kill a late Maryland scoring threat and Carolina defeated the Terps, 31-26, at Byrd Stadium. The Tar Heels had led 17-3 at halftime, only to see Maryland put on a second-half rally. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic scored UNC's first touchdown on a five-yard run and then threw 24 yards to Ted Leverenz for another tally. Ellis Alexander booted a 23-yard field goal to offset a 44-yard kick by Steve Mike-Mayer. The Terps then tied the game in the third quarter on a 72-yard punt return by Bob Smith and a 10-yard run by Jamie Franklin. Vidnovic ran 10 yards to give Carolina the lead again, but Mike-Mayer made it 24-20 with a 42-yard FG. Carolina then moved for the winning points. A fine diving catch by Andy Chacos at the one-yard line set up Dick Oliver's clinching TD. Al Neville threw 10 yards to Ratliff for the final Maryland points, but DeRatt killed their last effort with his big defensive play.

WOLFPACK BEATEN IN THRILLER

Carolina made the big plays defensively and topped N.C. State, 34-33, in an offensive battle at Kenan Stadium. State led 19-10 at the half on runs by Stan Fritt and Charley Young and on an 80-yard punt return by Mike Stultz. Carolina's points came on a 32-yard field goal by Ellis Alexander and a one-yard pass from Nick Vidnovic to Ken Taylor. The field goal was set up by a sensational Lou Angelo interception. The lead changed hands three times in the final half. Carolina went ahead 24-19 on a one-yard plunge by Billy Hite and a brilliant catch by Taylor of a Vidnovic pass in the end zone. State came back on Willie Burden's two-yard run, but UNC tied the game on Alexander's 27-yard FG. Defensive end Gene Brown, who had a great day, then made one of the year's biggest plays, tackling State punter Mark Cassidy and forcing a fumble which Jimmy DeRatt recovered at the Wolfpack one. Hite took it in for the go-ahead points with only 58 seconds in the game. But State came back to score again on a tremendous catch by Pat Kenney. The Wolfpack went for two and Terry Taylor broke up Dave Buckey's desperation pass to finally nail down the victory.

BUCKEYES BOP CAROLINA, 29-14

Third-ranked Ohio State handed Carolina its first loss of the season, 14-29, before a capacity crowd of 86,180 at Ohio Stadium. The Buckeyes, led by freshman sensation Archie Griffin, rolled up 430 yards rushing to claim the victory. Griffin set a new school record with 239 yards on the ground. He scored once and his darting runs set up the other Ohio State scores. Carolina actually led 7-0 in the first period when Jimmy DeRatt blocked a Buckeye punt and Gene Brown fell on it in the end zone for a touchdown. The Tar Heels' other points came on the last play of the game when Nick Vidnovic threw a 37-yard scoring pass to Earle Bethea.

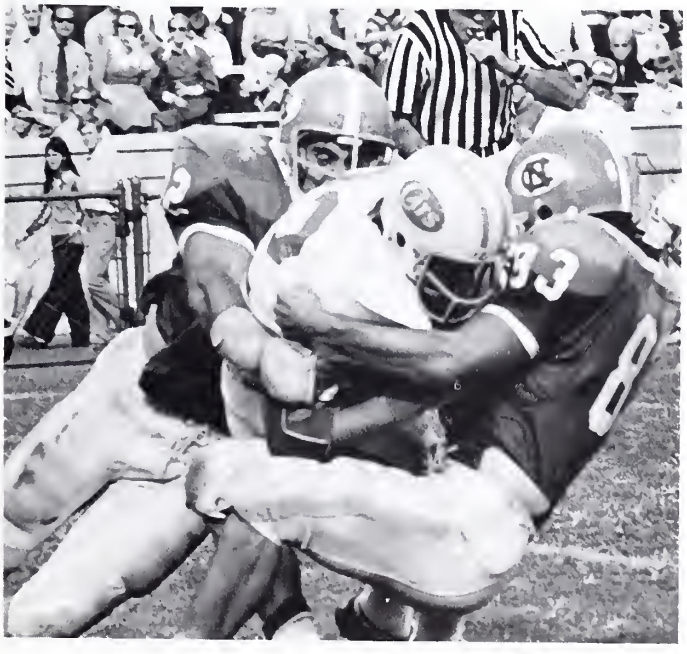
TAR HEELS WHIP WILDCATS, 31-20

Carolina piled up 354 yards rushing, 126 of them by Ike Oglesby, and raced to a 31-20 victory over the Kentucky Wildcats in Kenan Stadium. Oglesby, gaining over 100 yards for the first time in over a year, reached his 126 total in 21 carries. Tim Kirkpatrick, who also had a big day, scored UNC's first touchdown on a nifty 10-yard run. Nick Vidnovic threw four yards to Jimmy Jerome for another TD and Ellis Alexander booted a 20-yard field goal as Carolina built a 17-6 halftime lead. Sammy Johnson scored early in the third period after Bill Chapman recovered a Kentucky fumble to stretch that margin. But the Wildcats came back on scoring runs by Arvel Carroll and Sonny Collins. UNC then clinched the victory on a five-yard sweep by Ted Leverenz. Ron Rusnak and Jerry Sain had great days blocking and the defense got strong performances from Chapman, Gene Brown, Eric Hyman, Ronnie Robinson, and Jimmy DeRatt.

DEFENSE STIFLES DEMON DEACONS

Sparked by the play of the defensive secondary, Carolina's defense registered its first shutout of the year with a 21-0 win over Wake Forest in a regionally televised game at Groves Stadium. Phil Lamm, Greg Ward and Lou Angelo all came up with big plays for the Tar Heels. Mike Mansfield and Terry Taylor also turned in strong performances. Carolina scored twice in the second quarter on a five-yard run by Nick Vidnovic and a 55-yard pass play from halfback Sammy Johnson to Earle Bethea. Chris Kupec, subbing for Vidnovic in the second half, completed the scoring with a three-yard pass to Jimmy Jerome.



UNC OVERPOWERS CLEMSON, 26-10

A sensational performance by the offensive line and a fine defensive effort carried the Carolina Tar Heels to a 26-10 win over Clemson before 41,000 fans at Death Valley. The UNC offensive line ripped holes in the Tiger defense as Carolina rolled up 496 yards in total offense. Fullback Tim Kirkpatrick and tailback Billy Hite ran for 111 and 76 yards respectively to lead the rushing attack. Running mainly behind the blocks of Bob Thornton, Ron Rusnak and Ken Huff, Carolina took a 16-0 halftime lead. Phil Lamm returned a punt 69 yards for UNC's first TD and Dick Oliver added another on a short plunge. Ellis Alexander also had a 20-yard field goal. The Tigers cut the lead on a two-yard run by Smiley Sanders and Eddie Siegler's 18-yard FG, but Alexander added another three-pointer and Oliver scored from 11 yards to seal the victory. The defensive stars were many, including end Bill Chapman, Lamm, tackle Ronnie Robinson and linebacker Mike Mansfield.

VIDNOVIC LEADS TAR HEELS PAST VIRGINIA

Nick Vidnovic threw two touchdown passes and scored another himself to lead Carolina to a 23-3 victory over Virginia. The win, coupled with Duke's loss to Wake Forest, gave the Tar Heels their second straight Atlantic Coast Conference championship. Vidnovic opened the scoring with a five-yard touchdown pass to Charles Waddell. Billy Maxwell and Ellis Alexander swapped field goals before Carolina got its second TD on a nine-yard Vidnovic run. That score was set up by a 43-yard halfback pass from Sammy Johnson to Earle Bethea. Carolina got its final points in the third period on a 71-yard pass from Vidnovic to Jimmy Jerome. Greg Ward intercepted two passes for the Tar Heels who limited the Cavaliers to only 18 pass completions in 48 attempts. Johnson had 94 yards rushing and Ike Oglesby 91 for Carolina, which overcame five lost fumbles and 54 yards in penalties to get the win.

CAROLINA BLANKS DUKE FOR UNDEFEATED ACC SEASON

Carolina went through its second straight undefeated campaign in ACC play by defeating arch-rival Duke, 14-0, before a capacity crowd at Kenan Stadium and a regional television audience. Duke, which changed its entire defense for the game, bottled up the Tar Heel offense for three periods. Duke stayed in excellent field position due to its defense and the booming punts of Steve Jones. However, the Carolina defense was just as spectacular, constantly stopping Duke scoring attempts. Mike Mansfield had a sensational day at linebacker, turning in one of the top individual performances of the season. The secondary was also great, intercepting six Duke passes. Lou Angelo had two of those. Mark DiCarlo's 19-yard interception return led to the first score, a 17-yard pass from Nick Vidnovic to Ken Taylor in the final period. Moments later Phil Lamm ran an interception 26 yards to the Duke 20. Two plays later Vidnovic hit Taylor with a 16-yard scoring toss. Jones turned in a good performance for Duke with his punting and 99 yards rushing.

OGLESBY, VIDNOVIC LEAD WIN OVER ECU

Ike Oglesby scored three touchdowns and Nick Vidnovic passed for 169 yards to lead Carolina to a 42-19 win over East Carolina in rain-soaked Kenan Stadium. Oglesby ran for 119 yards and scored on runs of one, seven and three yards. Vidnovic, who also scored on a two-yard run, completed eight of 12 passes. Sammy Johnson had 104 yards rushing and a two-yard scoring run. Dick Oliver got the other Tar Heel score on a two-yard run. Carlester Crumpler ran for 135 yards and scored twice for the pirates on runs of 13 and 45 yards. Les Strayhorn's 51-yard gallop completed the East Carolina scoring.

CAROLINA COMEBACK BEATS GATORS

Carolina completed its season with a 10-1 record by coming from behind in the final moments to defeat Florida, 28-24, at the Gator Bowl. Sammy Johnson broke tackles to go six yards for the winning touchdown with only 1:41 to play. Carolina, with a 26-24 lead, then went for two. Nick Vidnovic, in the grasps of three tacklers, threw to Ted Leverenz for the conversion. Florida drove to the UNC nine in the final minute, but could not score in four downs from there. Johnson also scored two other touchdowns on five-yard runs. UNC's other score came on a 14-yard pass from Vidnovic to Jimmy Jerome. David Bowden threw two TD passes for Florida. The Gators' other scores came on a one-yard dive by Nat Moore and a 36-yard field goal by John Williams. Tackle Ronnie Robinson and linebacker Tom Embrey had big days defensively for the Tar Heels.

"CARDIAC KIDS" TAKE SUN BOWL, 32-38

Carolina's "Cardiac Kids" twice came from behind in the fourth quarter to finally outlast Texas Tech, 32-28, in an exciting Sun Bowl battle at El Paso. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic threw 12 yards to Ted Leverenz to give the Tar Heels the lead for the final time with only 1:02 to play. A last-ditch Red Raider effort was halted by a safety. Carolina had led 9-7 at halftime. Both Tar Heel scores came as a result of strong defensive play. Mike Mansfield forced a Texas Tech fumble late in the first period and that led to a 32-yard field goal by Ellis Alexander. Early in the second quarter Dale Lydecker backed the Raiders deep in their own territory with a booming 41-yard punt. When Texas Tech tried to kick back, a strong Tar Heel rush forced a short punt. Taking over at the Raiders' 34, UNC drove for a score. Charles Waddell made a super catch on a 16-yard gain to keep the drive alive and the Tar Heels scored two plays later when Dick Oliver raced 22 yards to paydirt. Late in the half, Tech went 86 yards to cut the lead to 9-7. A 34-yard run by quarterback Joe Barnes and a 49-yard scoring pass from Barnes to Andre Tillman accounted for most of that yardage. The explosive Red Raiders went ahead 21-9 in the third period on runs of 65 and 46 yards by George Smith. Smith ended the game with 172 yards rushing. Three passes from Vidnovic then moved the Tar Heels 80 yards for their second TD. On consecutive plays he threw to Earle Bethea for 12 yards, to Leverenz for six and to Leverenz for 62 and the score. Alexander's PAT cut the lead to 21-16. Moments later Carolina was moving again, going 79 yards in 14 plays. The big plays were runs by Ike Oglesby, Sammy Johnson and Oliver. Billy Hite got the touchdown on a three-yard plunge with only 12:31 left. Vidnovic's two-point pass to Leverenz gave Carolina a 24-21 lead. However, a 53-yard punt return by Larry Williams put the Raiders in scoring position. A five-yard run by Smith put Tech in the lead again, 28-24. Two punt exchanges later the Tar Heels started their winning drive. A key play was a four-yard gain by Vidnovic on a fourth-and-one situation. On the next play he threw 11 yards to Leverenz and then came back with the winning 12-yard pass to the same wingback. Alexander missed the PAT, leaving the score 30-28. The Raiders' final chance was killed when Ronnie Robinson threw to Barnes for a safety.

..and here we go again..

1973 PROSPECTUS

The North Carolina Tar Heels, champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference for two consecutive years, will have to mend their football fences if they hope to make it to the top again in 1973.

Coach Bill Dooley's men in Carolina blue enjoyed the greatest overall season in school history last fall, winning 10 and losing one during the regular season and then toppling Texas Tech, 32-28, in an exciting Sun Bowl game.

The Tar Heels won all six ACC games for the second straight year and stretched their league victory streak to 15 dating all the way back to the middle of the 1970 campaign.

Dooley feels Carolina will field another good team in 1973—but a lot of key players must be replaced. Gone from last year's great team are 13 starters, including six players who made the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team.

Among the stars who graduated are Ron Rusnak, All-America and All-ACC offensive guard; and all-conference performers, offensive tackle Jerry Sain, defensive tackle Eric Hyman, defensive end Gene Brown, linebacker Mike Mansfield, and defensive halfback Lou Angelo.

Jimmy DeRatt, hard-hitting linebacker from Saratoga, N.C., is the only All-ACC performer who returns to the Tar Heel cast. He's a rising junior.

"We feel we have the nucleus of a good team," Dooley says, "but we have a lot of holes to fill. The players we lost were the ones who provided us with such excellent senior leadership and believe me, they will be difficult to replace."

Graduation hits the Tar Heels the hardest in the offensive line where Carolina excelled in 1972. In addition to the loss of Rusnak and Sain, others who graduated are center Bob Thornton and tight end Ken Taylor, hero of victories over arch-rivals N.C. State and Duke a year ago.

There are some outstanding returnees in the offensive line. Robert Pratt is a blue chip tackle and Ken Huff had a banner season at offensive guard as a sophomore last year. Earle Bethea and Pat Norton return at split end.

Billy Newton is likely to move into Rusnak's starting guard position while Joel Bradshaw and John Frerotte are battling for the tackle spot vacated by Sain. Robert Walters looks like a good bet at center with Deke Andrews returning to handle the long snaps. Charles Waddell and Andy Chacos are the best bets at tight end.

Dooley expects Carolina to once again have outstanding play at quarterback. Returning is Nick Vidnovic, the dynamic young man who played so well in 1972. Nick threw eight touchdown passes—more than any other quarterback in the ACC—and ran effectively throughout the year. Backing him up is Chris Kupec, another highly promising player.

The Tar Heels are in excellent shape at wingback with the return of both Ted Leverenz and Jimmy Jerome. Leverenz was the hero of the Sun Bowl game, catching two touchdown passes, including the winning TD in the final minutes of the game.

Dickie Oliver, backup to Tim Kirkpatrick at fullback, returns for his junior season, and he should be headed for a banner year. Oliver rushed for 212 yards last season, averaging 5.0 yards a clip. He scored four touchdowns. Brian Smith, a newcomer, appears the best bet to back up Oliver.

Carolina used four tailbacks in 1972 and got fine play from all of them. Ike Oglesby graduated, but the other three—Sammy Johnson, Billy Hite and Tommy Bradley—return. There is a possibility, however, that Bradley may be switched to defensive back.

James Betterson has looked good in spring practice and could see action at tailback.

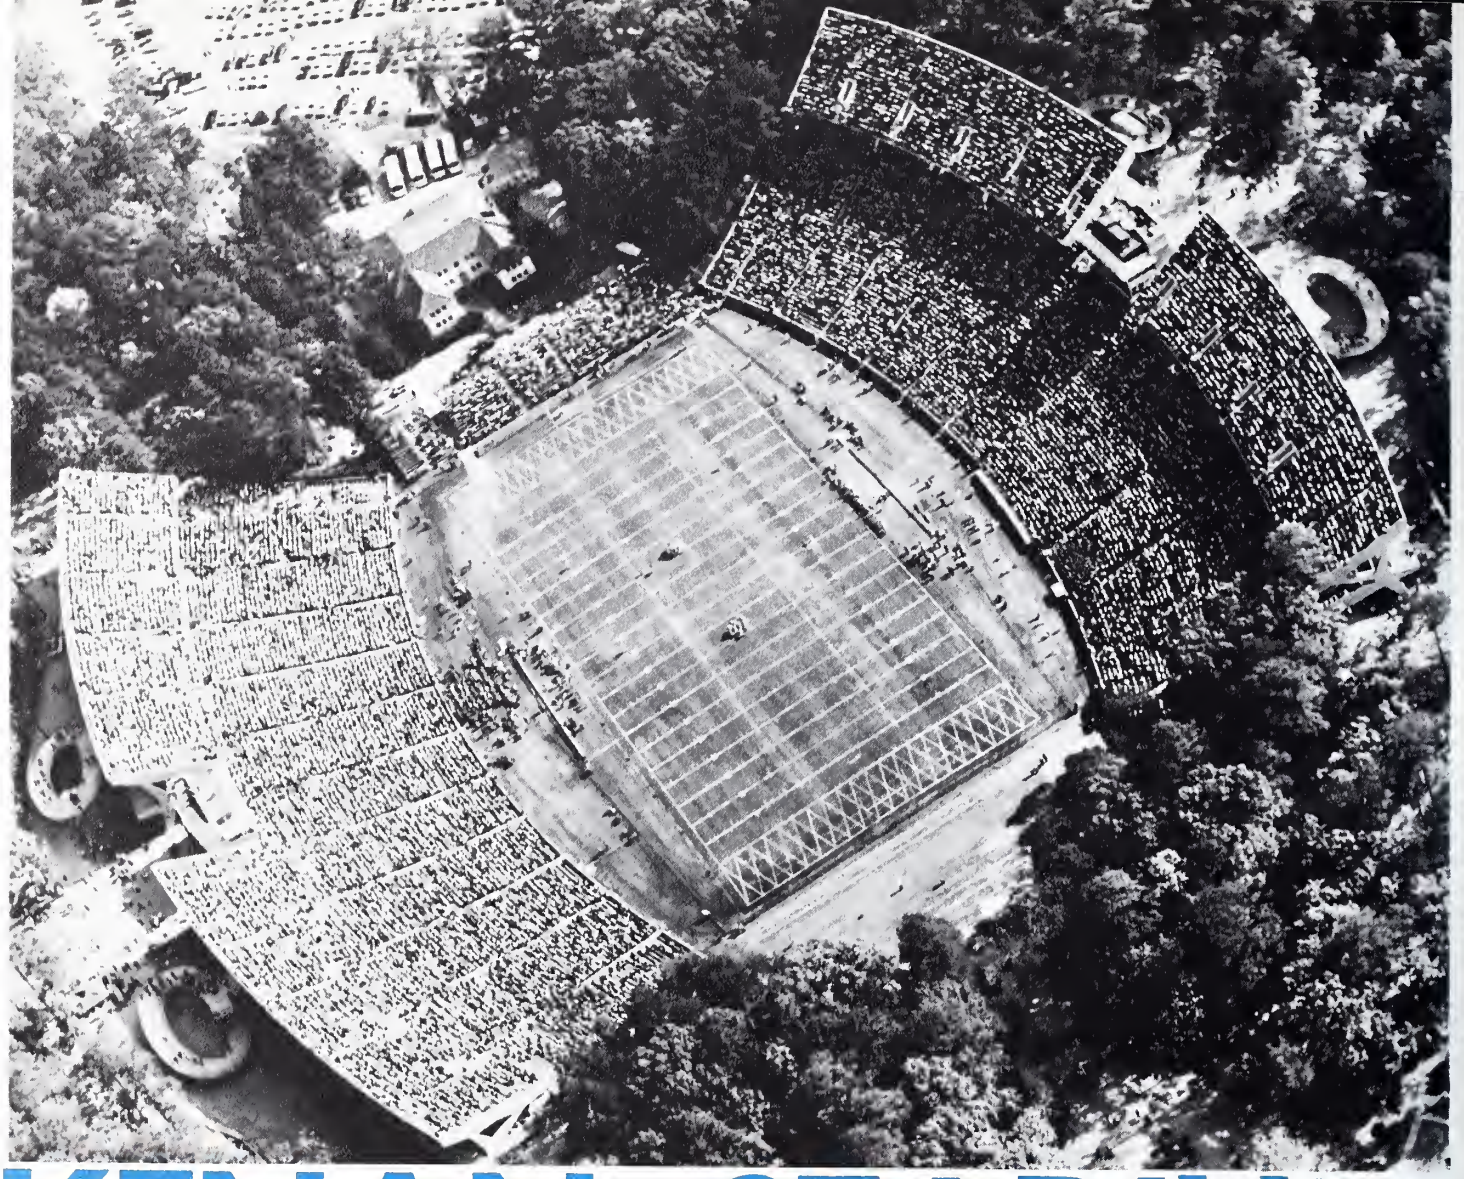
Defensively, Carolina also is looking for replacements for a host of stars. Both defensive ends, Gene Brown and Bill Chapman, graduated. Their backups from a year ago, Ted Elkins and John Tessar, are strong in the running along with rising sophomore Tim Bialy.

Hyman and Robbi VandenBroek are gone from the defensive tackle ranks, but two good ones, Peter Talty and Ronnie Robinson, are back in the fold. There does not appear to be much depth at these positions, however.

All-ACC Jimmy DeRatt returns at linebacker along with veteran Terry Taylor, Tom Embrey and Mark DiCarlo. An injury suffered late in the season has sidelined DiCarlo for the pre-season drills.

The graduation of Angelo and Greg Ward leaves two big holes to be filled in the defensive backfield. Phil Lamm, third starter a year ago, returns and should be headed for a fine season. Best bets to move into starting jobs are Kip Arnall and Earl Chesson, backups a year ago.

Carolina faces another rugged schedule in 1973. The Tar Heels again play all six ACC rivals, plus such tough outsiders as Missouri, Kentucky, Tulane, East Carolina, and William and Mary.



KENAN STADIUM

Nestled among the tall pine trees near the heart of the Carolina campus is Kenan Stadium, home of the Tar Heels.

For 46 years the UNC football team has fought its Saturday battles in this beautiful valley. This is where the action is—the color, motion and pageantry of Carolina football.

Kenan Stadium is usually referred to as one of the most beautiful football arenas in the country. Some say it is THE most beautiful. Little can be done to enhance its natural beauty. In fact, most of the work on the stadium has been directed toward keeping up the natural setting.

William Rand Kenan Jr. deserves the credit for making the stadium a part of University life. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and was an 1894 graduate of the University. The late Mr. Kenan, who died in 1966, was an international industrialist. He discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry.

The stadium was constructed as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. It was dedicated on Nov. 12, 1927, and Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, in the first game played there.

The stadium had a capacity of 24,000 that first year. However, in later years Mr. Kenan added portable stands in the end zones and then an upper deck to the permanent stands to bring the capacity to 47,000.

Three years ago standing room tickets were sold for games with South Carolina and Duke and attendance reached an all-time high of 48,500.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

Six games are scheduled for Kenan Stadium this fall. The Tar Heels will battle outside foes William and Mary, Missouri, and East Carolina and Atlantic Coast Conference rivals Maryland, Clemson, and Wake Forest.

For these games, students, faculty, alumni and fans will converge on the stadium. They will enjoy football at its finest in a setting that is magnificent.

This is Kenan Stadium and this is where the action is.

UNC COACHES

BILL DOOLEY

Head Coach

—Two Atlantic Coast Conference championships in succession!

—Fifteen straight Atlantic Coast Conference victories!

—An improved record each of the past five seasons!

—Three straight bowl trips for the Carolina Tar Heels!

—Twenty-seven wins in the last 33 regular season games!

Those headlines tell the amazing success story of Bill Dooley, the "trench fighter" from Alabama who, in six years, has lifted the University of North Carolina to a spot among the nation's football elite.

Dooley's Tar Heels capped their rise to glory last season with a 10-1 record and a Sun Bowl win over Texas Tech. When Carolina won 11 games last season, it marked the first time in 58 years a Tar Heel team had done that.

The dynamic Dooley has pulled off a rare feat in his six seasons at Carolina. He has improved the Tar Heel record each year he has been on the scene and it is believed no other coach in history ever did that.

Caught with mediocre material at the start, the Tar Heels went 2-8 under Dooley in 1967. It was 3-7 in 1968, 5-5 in 1969, 8-4 in 1970, 9-3 in 1971 and 11-1 last year.

Last year's team whipped every ACC foe, stretching the Tar Heel winning streak in the conference to 15. Carolina hasn't lost to a conference opponent since bowing to Wake Forest, 14-13, in the middle of the 1970 campaign.

Dooley now has carried Carolina to three straight bowl games, and no other Tar Heel coach in history ever did that. It was the Peach Bowl in 1970, the Gator Bowl in 1971 and the trip to El Paso for the Sun Bowl last season.

In his time at Carolina, Dooley has turned out to be a different kind of coach from anyone who has ever led the Tar Heels. Dooley goes to the big game dressed in work clothes (not a coat and tie), and he jogs on and off the field with his players. It's almost as though he is just a member of the squad.

Dooley was a player of extraordinary ability when he attended Mississippi State in the mid 1950s. He was an all-star guard at State and was chosen in his senior year to play in the Shrine Bowl game at Miami, Fla.

Following his graduation from Mississippi State, Dooley went into the coaching field.

He coached first as an assistant at

Mississippi State, serving as line coach for two years and head freshman coach for three seasons. During his three years with the freshman staff, Dooley's teams never lost to Ole Miss, State's biggest rival.

Dooley went to George Washington in 1961 under former Carolina football star Jim Camp. He stayed there for two seasons and then returned to Mississippi State in 1963, where, as offensive line coach, he helped guide the Maroons into the Liberty Bowl game against North Carolina State.

When Vince Dooley was named the head coach at Georgia in 1964, he immediately picked his brother, Bill, to head up the offense. The two brothers restored Georgia to football prominence. The Bulldogs went to bowl games two of the three years Bill was on the staff, compiling an overall record of 22 victories against nine losses and a tie.

Dooley admits that being a head coach deprives him of some of the biggest fun in coaching. "What I miss most is getting on my hands and knees and giving the players individual instruction," he says. "A head coach is busy directing the overall operation and has to leave that to the assistants. I miss it because I always liked to get into the trenches with the men."

Dooley still is a trench fighter of sorts. He believes in hard-nosed football and will tell you, "As a team, you're nothing if you can't run the football on an opponent. Football is a game for men. You've got to be able to out-tough people."

While Dooley is a tough-minded coach, you would never be able to tell it if you met him off the field. He's an extremely likeable man who mixes well with people from all walks of life and who makes no pretenses about being anything but "just plain Bill."

Dooley has made a tremendous hit with Tar Heel fans. They give him standing ovations at Tar Heel Club meetings and they stand in line to shake his hand and to congratulate him on all that he has accomplished at Carolina.

One man in Kinston asked for the floor after Dooley had made a talk there. "I want to say that Bill Dooley is my kind of folks," said the man. "He sounds just like a neighbor of mine and I'm proud that he is our coach."

When he's not working (and that isn't often), Dooley can be found hitting a tennis ball or casting for fish. He's very good at both sports and he's competitive, just like his football teams are each fall.

The Coach and his lovely wife, Chris, are very proud of their two boys, Jim and Billy, whom Dooley affectionately calls "my wild Indians."

BOBBY COLLINS

Chief Assistant Coach

Bobby Collins, who has been through a lot of football wars with Bill Dooley, is the assistant head coach of the Carolina Tar Heels in charge of the defense.

Collins and Dooley played together on Mississippi State teams in the mid 1950s and now have been coaching associates ever since Dooley took over the head coaching job at Carolina.

The first five years he was on the Tar Heel scene, Collins worked as head of the offense and produced a whole lot of magic. Last year Dooley moved Collins to the defensive staff and promoted him to assistant head coach.

Much of the credit for the great success of the 1972 team goes to Collins and the men who work under him. The Carolina team, which posted an 11-1 record featured hard-hitting defensive play and forced numerous turnovers by the opponents in every game.

Collins also did a magnificent job the five years he directed the offense. While the veer and the triple option were grabbing most of the headlines, Carolina's multiple offense was dominating the Atlantic Coast Conference. Carolina led the league in total offense and in scoring the last three years Collins was the offensive chief.

In his own playing days, Collins was a fine quarterback at Mississippi State, although he weighed only 150 pounds. Bill Dooley was a guard on the same Mississippi State teams.

Bobby is now beginning his 18th year in coaching. He has seen duty at Mississippi State, Colorado State, George Washington and Virginia Tech. Some of the great players he has coached are Frank Loria, an all-America defensive back at Virginia Tech; Don McCauley, all-America tailback at Carolina; Lewis Jolley, all-ACC back of the Tar Heels; Paul Miller and Gayle Bomar, blazing quarterbacks at Carolina; and all-ACC defensive stars of a year ago, Mike Mansfield, Eric Hyman, Gene Brown, Lou Angelo, and Jimmy DeRatt.

Bobby and his defensive assistants face a tough job this fall because Carolina lost most of the leaders of the defensive team from a year ago. "We feel we have fine young talent, however," he says, "and we are confident our players will give us good performances."

Collins is married to the former Lynn Bass of Laurel, Miss. They have three children—Kent, 18; Leisa, 14; and Jayme, 11.

VIC SPOONER

Offensive End Coach

Vic Spooner, who teamed with Bill Dooley to help turn out fine teams at Mississippi State, is now doing the same thing at Carolina.

A star pass receiver in his own playing days, Vic now uses that knowledge and experience to coach the UNC offensive ends.

Spooner was a brilliant performer at Texas Tech. He was on the great Red Raider team which won the 1954 Gator Bowl. Ironically, Spooner helped defeat his alma mater in last year's Carolina Sun Bowl victory.

A native of Colquitt, Ga., Spooner began his coaching career at Presbyterian College. He later joined the staff at Mississippi State and headed the Maroon defense for three years. Dooley was on the same staff and their 1963 team went to the Liberty Bowl.

When Dooley came to Carolina, Spooner was one of the first men he hired. Vic is rated one of the top strategists in the South.

Spooner is a fine fisherman and hunter and is regarded as one of the top anglers in the Athletic Department.

He's married to the former Katherine Andrews of Silver Spring, Md. They have four children—Vic, 13; Roxanne, 11; Lynn, nine; and Andy, six.

JIM CARMODY

Defensive Line Coach

Defensive line coach at Carolina is Jim Carmody, who came on the Tar Heel scene with Bill Dooley and has been here ever since building a giant reputation.

Carmody's work with the tackles and the inside linebackers has been a big reason why Carolina has led the Atlantic Coast Conference in defense against the rush three of the past four seasons. In those four seasons, Carmody has coached five all-conference players.

Carmody came to Carolina from Mississippi State where his coach, Paul Davis, called him "one of the brightest young men in the game." Carmody, like Bill Dooley, begins his seventh season at UNC this fall.

Jim was a star center at Tulane. Following his graduation, he coached in New Orleans at Holy Cross High. He also coached at the University of Kentucky where one of his coaching partners was Homer Rice, the current Tar Heel Director of Athletics.

Carmody is tough-minded when it comes to football, but he's a fun-loving fellow off the field. His favorite pastime is golf and he hits the ball with authority.

Jim is married to the former Earlyn Regouffre of New Orleans. They have four sons, Stephen, 12; Brian, 11; Keith, nine; and Chris, eight.

PAT WATSON

Offensive Line Coach

Pat Watson, once a star player for Bill Dooley at Mississippi State, is now a key man on the Tar Heel staff in his role as offensive line coach.

Watson is actually in his second stint at Carolina. He served as a graduate assistant coach here in 1967 and 1968 while completing work for his master's degree.

After leaving Carolina, he coached one year at Furman and then spent two seasons as defensive line coach at his alma mater under Charles Shira. He returned to Chapel Hill last year and his first season was a big one. The Tar Heel offensive line was rated one of the best in the nation, and guard Ron Rusnak was a concensus All-America.

Watson was a star offensive guard and linebacker himself at Mississippi State in the early 1960's. He was All-Southeastern Conference in 1963 and 1964 and All-America in 1963. He also made the all-conference academic teams in those years.

His 1963 team won the Liberty Bowl game. Dooley was his coach at that time.

Watson is married to the former Freddie Mauldin. Both are natives of Meridian, Miss.

AL GROH

Linebacker and Defensive End Coach

Al Groh is set to begin his first season on the Carolina coaching staff as defensive assistant in charge of the ends and the outside linebackers.

Groh joined the Tar Heel staff last winter, replacing Ron DeMelfi who resigned to go into private business.

A native of New York City, Al attended the University of Virginia where he played defensive end in football and was a defenseman in lacrosse.

He began his coaching career in 1967 at Albemarle High School in Virginia and then was an assistant coach at Army in 1968 and 1969. In 1970, he went to Virginia as freshman coach and moved up to the varsity the next year as defensive line coach.

He's married to the former Anne Stahle of Cornwall on the Hudson, N.Y. They have a son, Michael, one.

VITO RAGAZZO

Offensive Backfield Coach

Veteran football strategist Vito Ragazzo returns to the Carolina campus this season as offensive backfield coach.

Ragazzo comes to the Tar Heels from East Carolina University where he served as offensive coordinator for the last two years. Prior to that, Ragazzo was head coach for five seasons at Virginia Military Institute.

Ragazzo formerly coached at Carolina for five years under Jim Hickey and was regarded as one of the most popular figures in Tar Heel athletics. He served for a year as coach of the UNC ends and then spent four seasons coaching the offensive backs and receivers.

A native of Aflex, Ky., Ragazzo attended William and Mary and set a national pass-catching record there in 1949. In 1948 when the Indians spoiled a perfect Carolina season with a 7-7 tie, it was Ragazzo who caught the pass for the William and Mary touchdown.

Following his collegiate career, Ragazzo played and coached with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian League. He then was an assistant coach at VMI for five years before joining Hickey's UNC staff in 1961.

Ragazzo is married to the former Betty Roberts of Roanoke, Va., and they have two children, Jo Ann, 18, and Phil, 16.

DOUG SHIVELY

Defensive Backfield Coach

Doug Shively, veteran of 13 years in the coaching field, has joined the Carolina staff as coach of the defensive backfield. He succeeds Billy Hickman, who became an assistant coach of the Washington Redskins.

Shively, son of the late Bernie Shively, longtime director of athletics at the University of Kentucky, has a varied background in coaching. He came to Carolina from Clemson where he served as linebacker coach the past three years.

Prior to that, he coached for three years at the University of Kentucky and for six years at Virginia Tech. He also coached one year in high school ranks at Port Arthur, Texas.

A native of Lexington, Ky., Shively attended the University of Kentucky and lettered in football for three years and baseball for three years. Following graduation, he signed a professional baseball contract with the Chicago White Sox and played one season with Holdredge, Neb.

Shively is married to the former Patsy Moores of Lexington, Ky., and they have three children—Douglas Jr., 11; David, 10; and Kelly, six.

SANDY KINNEY

Backfield Coach

Success has followed Sandy Kinney throughout his Carolina career—as both a player and a coach.

Kinney was a member of the 1963 Tar Heel team which posted an 8-2 regular season record and then flattened the Air Force Academy, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl. Now, as a coach, he's helping guide Carolina teams to three more bowl games.

After graduating from UNC, Kinney coached here one year under former Tar Heel chief Jim Hickey and then was in the Air Force in 1966. He returned to Chapel Hill as a graduate assistant to Bill Dooley in 1967 and was made a full-time staff member in 1968.

His first assignment was working with Carolina's freshman teams. He was elevated to the varsity staff last year and worked with the offensive backfield. That again will be his area of concentration this season.

Kinney is a native of Hendersonville, N.C , and is married to the former Sondra Peabody of Raleigh. They have an infant son, George Sandifer Kinney III.

CHARLIE CARR

Junior Varsity Coach

Charlie Carr, one of Carolina's finest all-around athletes, is also becoming one of the top young coaches on the college scene.

Carr is currently beginning his third year on the UNC varsity staff. During his first season he worked with the B team and last year was named junior varsity coach, the position he now holds. Prior to becoming a full-time staff member, Charlie served as a graduate assistant for two seasons.

A native of Virginia Beach, Va., Carr was a three-sport star at Princess Anne High School.

He was an outstanding end on Carolina teams in 1965, 1966 and 1967. He set an all-time Carolina and Atlantic Coast Conference record in 1966 by catching 16 passes in one game against the Air Force Academy. Carr also was a fine baseball player and led the ACC in batting in his senior year with a .398 average.

Carr likes to play golf and tennis and is quite good at both sports. He also has assisted Joe Hilton with the UNC track team.

He is married to the former Linda Howell of Virginia Beach, Va.

TOM FLETCHER

Chief Recruiter

When Carolina enjoyed another banner recruiting year in 1972-73, much of the credit went to Tom Fletcher, one of the most dynamic young coaches in college football.

Fletcher serves as chief recruiter of the Tar Heels and also is administrative assistant to Coach Dooley.

Tom came to the Tar Heels from the University of Virginia where he was coach of the Cavaliers' offensive line. He tutored the Virginia receivers and gained great recognition when two of them, Bill Davis and David Sullivan, led the Atlantic Coast Conference in receptions.

Prior to coaching the offensive line, Fletcher worked with the freshman team at Virginia. He formerly had coached high school ball in Virginia at Castlewood High. He had an unbeaten season there and was named Coach of the Year.

A native of St. Paul, Va., he is a 1960 graduate of Hampden-Sydney, where he lettered in three sports. He obtained his masters from the University of Virginia in 1968.

Coach Dooley regards Fletcher as one of the finest recruiters in the college game and credits him with outstanding work in his first full season on the job.

BILL CANNELL

Academic Counselor

One of the most important members of the Carolina football family is Bill Cannell, who serves as an academic counselor to the players and an administrative assistant to Bill Dooley.

In his job, Cannell keeps tabs on the classroom progress of the Tar Heel players and counsels them in all areas of their academic work. He also assists Dooley in the management of the Football Office.

Bill is beginning his third full year at the University. He came here in early 1971 as a replacement for Bill Cobey, Jr., who was named an assistant to Athletic Director Homer Rice.

A native of Woodstown, N.J., Cannell attended Gettysburg College and received his master's degree from Temple University. Before coming to Carolina he taught in public schools in New Jersey and Pennsylvania for two years.

Cannell played soccer in college and is a member of the UNC Rugby Club. He's the only bachelor on the UNC staff.

JIM WEBSTER

Assistant Coach

The newest member of the Tar Heel coaching staff is Jim Webster, former star Carolina linebacker.

Webster is beginning his first year on the UNC staff. A 1972 graduate of the University, Jim comes back to Carolina from the McLean Trucking Company. He recently finished a year of management training there and had been assigned to the company's Cincinnati offices.

Jim was a player of tremendous ability and starred on Carolina teams which went to the 1970 Peach Bowl and the 1971 Gator Bowl. However, a series of tragic injuries plagued him throughout his career.

In the early part of his sophomore year he was regarded as one of the finest young players in the Atlantic Coast Conference. But, he broke a leg at mid-season and missed the rest of the year.

Torn knee ligaments cut him down during his junior year and he suffered a broken neck in pre-season practice before his senior season. However, he made an amazing comeback from that injury and played in the last four games of the regular season.

He was spectacular in Carolina's 7-3 loss to Georgia in the Gator Bowl that year and was named the outstanding Tar Heel player. He also won the coveted Brian Piccolo Award for making the most courageous comeback in ACC football.

. Webster is a bachelor and a native of Winston-Salem, N.C.

Ike Oglesby races in Sun Bowl victory.

TRAINERS

John Lacey

Dr. Joseph DeWalt

Terry Middleswarth

Headed by veteran John Lacey, who has worked with seven football bowl teams in an illustrious career, the University of North Carolina has one of the finest staffs of athletics trainers in the country.

In 1972, Carolina formed a new Division of Sports Medicine and appointed Dr. Joseph DeWalt to head the program. The popular Dr. DeWalt, a longtime physician in the University's student infirmary, begins his second school year in that capacity.

Serving with him in addition to Lacey are Terry Middleswarth, Dan Hooker and the newly-appointed John Spiker.

Middleswarth has been assigned by Dr. DeWalt to be the trainer in charge of football this year. Lacey is head trainer and the trainer in charge of basketball. Hooker will serve as trainer in charge of rehabilitation. Spiker will be principal trainer in charge of other sports besides football and basketball.

Lacey is beginning his 18th year at Carolina. He has had a fabulous career and has rubbed shoulders with championship teams at Carolina and Maryland.

While at Maryland, he served three football teams. He also worked with Maryland teams in football and lacrosse which won national championships. He came to Carolina with the late Sunny Jim Tatum of football coaching fame.

At Carolina, Lacey went to the Gator Bowl with the 1963 Tar Heels and has been to three consecutive bowl games with the great teams of recent years coached by Bill Dooley.

He also worked with the 1957 Tar Heel Basketball team which swept the national championship, and the 1971 cage squad which won the NIT championship in New York.

Twice in the past nine years, Lacey has served as trainer of United States Olympic teams. In 1964, he was a trainer of the American basketball team at Tokyo, and last year he went to Munich as head trainer for the U.S. Olympic contingent of athletes.

A native of Wallingford, Conn., Lacey is married to the former Barbara Koch. They are among the leading citizens in the Chapel Hill community.

Terry Middleswarth is in his second year with the Tar Heels. He is regarded as one of the finest young men in his field.

He received his B.S. degree in health and physical education at East Central State College in Ada, Okla., in 1966. He also got a master's degree in education there.

Middleswarth received a master's degree in physical education at Oklahoma in 1971. He served as an assistant trainer at Oklahoma and as head trainer at East Central State.

Hooker came to Carolina a little more than a year ago from Westchester State College where he was an assistant trainer. Before that, he served for four years as a physical therapist with the U.S. Army.

Hooker received his undergraduate degree from the University of Richmond and then earned a B.S. in physical therapy at the Medical College of Virginia. He was awarded a master's in education from the University of Southern California. He is married and the father of two children.

Spiker came to Carolina from the University of Pennsylvania where he has just received his degree in physical therapy. Previously, he had worked as a trainer at West Virginia University for two years and at the University of Pittsburgh.

UNC Wins Carmichael Cup

Homer Rice displays the Carmichael Cup.

Carolina has swept its third consecutive Carmichael Cup for overall sports achievement in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Tar Heels captured the honor for the fifth time by accumulating 68.5 points to finish two and one-half points ahead of runnerup Maryland for the 12th annual cup which is symbolic of the ACC's all-sports power rating. Maryland has captured the award the other seven years.

The award is a memorial to the late William Donald Carmichael, Jr., of Chapel Hill.

North Carolina State finished third with 59 points, while Duke placed fourth with 55, Virginia fifth with 43.5, Clemson sixth with 39, and Wake Forest seventh with 25.

Under the Carmichael Cup scoring system, each of the 13 recognized sports counts equally with points based on seven for first, six for second, etc. A team must be fielded in a particular sport to obtain points. Points in both basketball and baseball are awarded on the basis of the regular-season standings instead of the tournament finish.

North Carolina, where Homer Rice is director of athletics, captured three championships and placed second in three others. The Tar Heels won the football, fencing and tennis crowns and placed second in basketball, swimming and indoor track. The lowest finish by any North Carolina team was fifth in wrestling.

Maryland, under athletic director Jim Kehoe, pocketed five championships including cross country, wrestling, indoor track, lacrosse, and track and field.

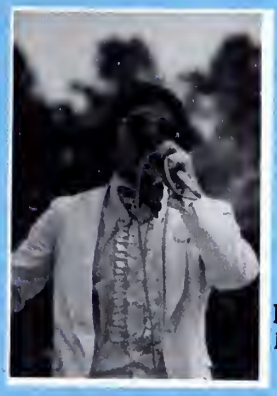
11-1 A RECORD TO REMEMBER!

Tar Heels everywhere went wild over the 1972 Carolina football team, which staged stirring comebacks and posted the best record in the history of the school. Here's what people from all walks of life had to say about the magic of that season:



RABBITT GILES
Head cheerleader

I think the highlights of the season were the great wins over N.C. State and Duke. The State game was especially memorable for me. Before the game I promised the fans that I would do one push-up for each point we had each time we scored. Little did I know we would end up with 34. That was a total of 115 push-ups. I don't believe the Tar Heel players worked as hard as I did that day. But it was worth it. I can't ever remember a season where the enthusiasm, both on the field and in the stands, was as great as it was during the 1972 season.

DR. GERALD BARRETT
UNC Faculty Chairman of Athletics

The team was great not only because it won, but because of its continuing desire to excel regardless of the momentary bounce of the ball.

MICHAEL CLARK
UNC junior from Henderson

The thing I remember most was the team's remarkable ability to score when they really needed it. I was tremendously impressed with the sincere dedication of the players, even during the off-season.

HOMER RICE
UNC Director of Athletics

Talk about esprit de corps! This 1972 Carolina team must have invented that expression. In my time in athletics, I can remember few teams that responded to pressure in the fashion this one did. When the going got tough, the team got tougher. Football teams reflect the attitude of their coaches. And this team certainly had a remarkable attitude. The comebacks against Florida and Texas Tech in the last two games were typical of the entire season. I'm proud of the way the 1972 Tar Heel team represented our University.

FEREBEE TAYLOR
Chancellor

1972 was such a great season that I don't believe I could pick out one single highlight. However, I'm speaking for the entire University community when I say I'm extremely proud of all those who contributed to our success.

LADD BAUCOM
Sports Editor, The Chapel Hill Newspaper

There was a deceptive magic to this methodically efficient machine which consistently had North Carolina fans clutching their throats for breath. Emotion was always more evident in the stands—at Florida, Kenan Stadium, College Park and El Paso—it was as if they knew how each contest, no matter how close, would end. Perhaps the most significant measure of this team's personality came in its only defeat, taken with the same calmness as the victories.

With no seconds showing on the clock, Nick Vidnovic cooly hurled a 38-yard bomb into the corner of the end zone that chilly afternoon in Columbus after Rose Bowl bound Ohio State had already put it away.

Afterwards, Bill Dooley, perhaps with an awareness of what was to come, spoke of the pride he had in his young team's refusal to give up, even when the game was out of reach.

And Vidnovic, the soft-spoken field general, said simply, "We won't lose again."

They didn't.

FRED McNAIR
Carolina tennis All-America

The N.C. State game was unquestionably the most exciting game I saw in my four years at Carolina. It was amazing the way the lead kept changing hands. Heck, I wasn't even worried when State went for that two-point conversion. If they had got it, I knew we'd come right back with another score.

DR. JAMES R. CALDWELL
UNC Department of History

To me the most distinctive thing about the play of the 1972 Tar Heels was their undaunted prowess in critical situations. In my nigh two-score years as a Carolina athletic partisan I have gloried in the performance of many a fine team in all sports, and all of the good ones have had the ability to come through against the odds. In that respect this team was not simply good, but phenomenal. Like the undefeated 1957 basketball national champions, this remarkable team had that deep-down intangible of strength that enabled it to turn certain defeat into victory. Their triumphs over Florida and Texas Tech were almost beyond belief. For me their courage in these games constituted renewed proof of the invincibility of the human spirit.

JACK PETTY
Class of 1958
High Point

The outstanding thing about the 1972 season was that it had something for everyone—from the great defensive play and punting of the Duke game to the free-scoring of the N.C. State and Florida games. Not only was this the most successful team in Carolina history, it also ranks as one of the most exciting.

WOODY DURHAM
Carolina Radio Network

Except for the Sun Bowl I had the pleasure of describing every single play of the sensational 1972 season. The thing that stands out in my memory about it is the "never give up" attitude of the entire team throughout the campaign, but especially in the games against Maryland, N.C. State, Duke, Florida and Texas Tech, where UNC was either tied or behind and then came on to win. Whew!

KEN TAYLOR
Tight end

The thing I remember most about the 1972 season is the great association I had with my teammates, especially the other seniors. Being a senior carries a great deal of responsibility and the only way we could have fulfilled those responsibilities was to help each other. I believe our faith in one another was the key to our whole season.

BILLY CARMICHAEL III
Advertising executive

It was the team that wasn't supposed to . . . Wasn't supposed to win it big . . . be in a bowl . . . be an exciting team to watch . . . be able to explode . . . or win the big one. But when it came right down to the bottom line, Carolina was all the things it wasn't supposed to be. The Tar Heels just about did the whole thing.

ORVILLE B. CAMPBELL
Publisher, Chapel Hill Newspaper

Every time I saw the Tar Heels take the field in 1972, I was tremendously impressed by their team play and attitude. There were no super stars, but there were a great number of football players dedicated to the purpose of winning. All were worthy to represent the University of North Carolina. I salute Bill Dooley and his fine coaching staff, and I am convinced that the members of the 1972 squad will long remember the success they encountered at Carolina both on and off the football field.

KAREN WORDEN
UNC senior from Glen Arm, Maryland

The most outstanding thing about the 1972 team was its unity. Although each player was an individual, there was a tremendous bond between them and they all had a mutual respect and admiration for each other. All were aware of each other's capabilities and limitations. This allowed the team to work together well, which ultimately resulted in winning.

RUSSELL ETHRIDGE
UNC junior from Grosse Point, Michigan

"I like Ike!" Carolina football—give 'em a yard and they'll take ten.

MORRIS MASON
Kenan Field House Custodian

Two games stand out in my mind from last season—the Florida and Texas Tech games. They were more alike than any other two games I can remember. Both times we had to come from behind in the last few seconds to win. They certainly were two of the most exciting games I've seen in my 46 years at Carolina.

JIM HEAVNER
Carolina Radio Network

It had to be the incredible double comeback against Florida. Lou Angelo broke up a Florida pass play in the UNC end zone with only seconds remaining to give the Tar Heels a 28-24 victory and its 10-1 regular season. That was followed by a speed-of-sound trip to Charlotte where Woody Durham and I broadcast the Carolina basketball game that night with Virginia Tech. All the excitement I ever care to have in one day.

CHUCK ERICKSON
Former UNC Director of Athletics

To me, the 1972 team is best exemplified by its play in the final two games of the season against Florida in Jacksonville and Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl. The performances in those games indicated the great confidence and poise of the squad. Their comeback efforts in the final minutes were unhurried performances of courage and skill. It is my hope that the 1973 team can show some of the spirit and determination of the '72 squad.

CARRINGTON SMITH
Owner of Chapel Hill's Carolina Theatre

Coach Dooley and his staff gave us the greatest season we've ever had at Carolina. You know, Coach Dooley called his players the "Cardiac Kids" and he was sure right about that. The games against N.C. State, Florida and Texas Tech were three of the most exciting I've ever seen.

WILLIAM CLEAVER
Junior from Durham

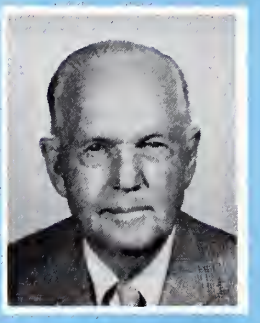
The outstanding play of the offensive line. It deserves recognition as the single most important element in the ball-control strategy that carried the team in 1972.

BOBBY COLLINS
Assistant Head Coach

The thing that stands out in my mind about the 1972 team is the great versatility it displayed. It's amazing the many ways we could and did beat people. There were games when we had to score a lot of points to win and we did it. There were games where we had to play great defense to win and we did it. There were games where we had to throw to win and we did that, too. That team could simply beat you in more ways than any other team with which I've been associated.

ELTON CASEY
Executive Sports Editor of the Durham Morning Herald

Who will ever forget the magical work of the Carolina Tar Heels in the closing minutes of the Sun Bowl game? Trailing by 28-24, Nick Vidnovic and his buddies beat the clock in one of the most stirring finishes I have seen in football. Vidnovic's pass to Ted Leverenz capped it and gave the Tar Heels their greatest record in football history.



WILLIAM A. BLOUNT
Class of 1920, Durham

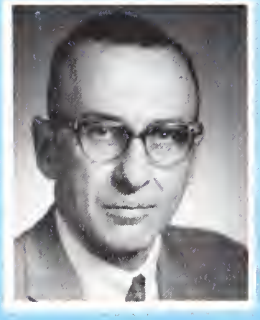
The best way to describe the 1972 team is "intestinal fortitude in abundance." The play I remember most is Ronnie Robinson's manhandling of Texas Tech quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety in the Sun Bowl.

IKE OGLESBY
Tailback

The 34-33 win over N.C. State. I think that set the tone for the rest of our season. We knew State had the other class team in the conference so that win gave us a lot of confidence. We had to come from behind to win and that helped us in later games. We knew that regardless of the score we had the ability to come back. And, of course, we did that on several occasions.

BILL DOOLEY
Head Coach

I've never been associated with a team that provided me with so many exciting moments. Early in the season, I nicknamed the players "The Cardiac Kids," and I think they went out every Saturday trying to live up to the nickname. The success of the season was due in large measure to the leadership provided by the senior players. I'm proud of what all the men on this squad accomplished.



DR. TOM NISBET
President of the Rams Club

It was a season of many exciting plays and games, but the composure of the team was its outstanding trait. The plays I remember most are the sideline touchdown pass reception by Ken Taylor against State, the blocking of the line and the running of Sammy Johnson in the winning drive against Florida, and the great play of the linebackers, especially Mike Mansfield, late in the Sun Bowl game.

DIXON FLEMING

28 DIXON FLEMING

5-9, 162, Sophomore, Smithfield, N.C.

A non-scholarship player who saw a lot of action for the freshmen in the defensive backfield last year . . . Shows promise, but needs a lot of work . . . Handicapped by his small size.

20 RONNY JOHNSON

5-10, 184, Sophomore, High Point, N.C.

Brother of Carolina's sparkling tailback, Sammy Johnson . . . Shows fine potential, but needs a lot of work to become a prominent member of squad . . . He's quick and hard-hitting . . . Missed practice in the spring and thus is behind some of the other defensive backs.

RONNY JOHNSON

RICH KELLY

21 RICH KELLY

6-0, 176, Sophomore, Fort Lee, N.J.

Intercepted two passes for freshman team last fall . . . Was an outstanding player on that club . . . Had a good spring practice and could see some action this season . . . Had brilliant high school record as an end and defensive back . . . Wants to major in physical therapy.

27 PHIL LAMM

6-0, 178, Senior, Wilson, N.C.

One of the Tar Heels' finest players . . . Was a starter and a star last season . . . Made brilliant 69-yard punt return for a touchdown against Clemson . . . Had two pass interceptions and returned them 44 yards . . . Played on two State championship teams at Wilson Fike . . . Leading candidate for all-ACC this fall . . . He's a Morehead Scholar and made the Dean's List last semester . . . He's in pre-law . . . Likes to play tennis and water ski.

PHIL LAMM

MIKE SHUSTER

29 MIKE SHUSTER

5-11, 184, Junior, College Park, Md.

Switched from the offense, where he saw brief action as a tailback last season . . . Could add depth to the defensive backfield if he comes through . . . Was a top runner on freshman team here three years ago . . . Coaches are high on him . . . Was all-metropolitan and all-county in high school.

18 FRANK TOWNSEND

5-10, 173, Sophomore, Fayetteville, N.C.

Here's a young man with outstanding potential . . . Was a star quarterback at Terry Sanford High in Fayetteville, but switched to defense here . . . Played in Shrine Bowl and East-West all-star game following high school career . . . Was voted Most Valuable Athlete in the Shrine Bowl . . . Majoring in business.

FRANK TOWNSEND

BOBBY TROTT

11 BOBBY TROTT

5-9, 165, Sophomore, Kannapolis, N.C.

A non-scholarship player who did well as a defensive back with the freshmen last fall . . . Coaches say he showed up well in the spring and could see some action this fall . . . Was voted Most Valuable Player in football and track at his high school . . . Likes camping, swimming, tennis and reading . . . Wants a career in business.

JOEL BRADSHAW

OFFENSIVE TACKLES

DARRYL CRAIG

72 JOEL BRADSHAW

6-4, 263, Senior, Richmond, Va.

A top reserve in his first two varsity seasons, Joel is now battling for a starting job at right tackle . . . He and John Frerotte are the top candidates for the position . . . Has good size, but needs to be more aggressive . . . Has shown constant improvement throughout his UNC career . . . An all-state tackle at Hermitage High in Richmond.

60 DARRYL CRAIG

6-2, 238, Junior, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada

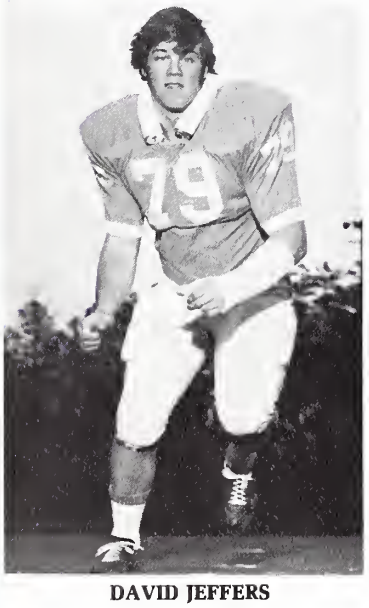
Another in a long line of Canadian players at UNC . . . Has size, but still needs some work . . . Could see action this fall . . . Was the MVP for the Ottawa Rough Riders in Canada's National High School Water Polo Championships.

JOHN FREROTTE

78 JOHN FREROTTE

6-3, 229, Junior, McLean, Va.

Could be the starter at right tackle . . . Battling Joel Bradshaw for that post . . . Had a fine sophomore season as a back-up to Robert Pratt . . . Coaches think he has the ability to be a solid performer . . . Was red-shirted in 1971 and then became a prominent player last fall . . . Has good quickness and is aggressive.



DAVID JEFFERS

79 DAVID JEFFERS

6-2, 233, Sophomore, Richmond, Va.

A true sophomore who shows good potential . . . Hampered in the spring by a broken arm . . . Because of that, he's now behind the others at this position in experience . . . However, coaches think he can help this year . . . An all-star defensive end at St. Christopher's in Richmond.

ROBERT PRATT

74 ROBERT PRATT

6-3, 245, Senior, Richmond, Va.

One of the Tar Heels' top candidates for national all-star honors . . . Coaches say he's the best tackle in the ACC . . . Considered an outstanding pro prospect . . . Big, strong and fast . . . An outstanding high school fullback, he has started at tackle for two years . . . He's an aggressive blocker . . . Starred at St. Christopher's in Richmond . . . Majoring in business administration . . . Enjoys hunting and skiing . . . Favorite athlete is Arnold Palmer . . . Should replace Jerry Sain as Carolina's All-ACC tackle.

CENTERS

DEKE ANDREWS

53 DEKE ANDREWS

6-2, 208, Sophomore, Roanoke, Va.

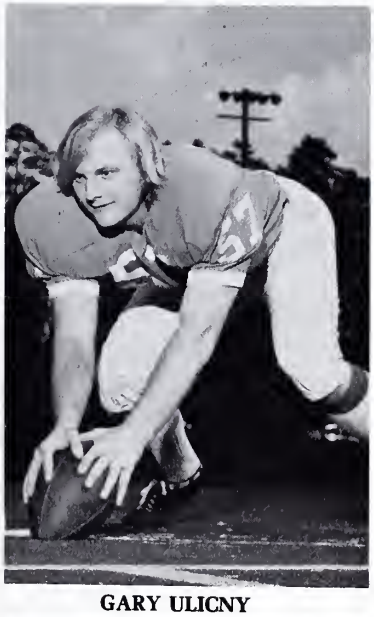
A key man in the kicking game, Deke handles the long snaps on punts and extra points . . . Had that important task as a freshman . . . One of three frosh to see action last fall . . . Deke's one of the team funnymen and is extremely popular with his teammates.

51 ANDY HARRIS

6-2, 199, Sophomore, Charlotte, N.C.

Starting center on the undefeated 1971 freshman team, Andy was red-shirted last season . . . Now appears ready to contribute to the varsity . . . His dad, Dave, was a big star at Wake Forest . . . Played in both the Shrine Bowl and East-West All-Star Game.

ANDY HARRIS



GARY ULICNY

57 GARY ULICNY

6-0, 211, Senior, Youngstown, Ohio

Chief back-up to Bob Thornton last year . . . Did a good job in that reserve role . . . Comes off the ball well and is a good blocker . . . Will probably be the number two man again . . . Played both center and linebacker in high school . . . Selected to play in the Ohio High School All-Star game.

56 ROBERT WALTERS

6-2, 225, Senior, Concord, N.C.

Here's one of the best and most popular members of the squad . . . "Waldo" is considered by Carolina coaches as the best center in the ACC . . . Has good size and excellent quickness . . . Has outstanding speed for a lineman . . . Started at guard two years ago, but missed last season . . . He's a fine blocker and very aggressive . . . One of the team comedians . . . Also is the team barber, giving haircuts to his teammates . . . Majoring in chemistry and physical education, he hopes to go into the field of sports medicine.

ROBERT WALTERS

KICKING SPECIALISTS

ELLIS ALEXANDER

52 ELLIS ALEXANDER

6-0, 200, Junior, Salisbury, N.C.

Was one of the top kicking specialists in the ACC last season . . . Booted 35 out of 38 extra points and seven of 14 field goals for a total of 56 points . . . Led Tar Heels in scoring . . . Could possibly be used at linebacker, too . . . He's a Morehead Scholar who is undecided which career he will pursue . . . Likes music and music equipment.

16 DALE LYDECKER

6-2, 183, Junior, Nyack, N.Y.

Shared the punting duties with Nick Vidnovic last season . . . Punted 32 times for a fine average of 41.1 . . . Usually boots 'em high and that's what the coaches look for . . . A fine all-around athlete . . . Plays outfield for the baseball team . . . Should be headed for an outstanding season.

Steeped in rich tradition, but reaching toward the future, is the University of North Carolina, one of the nation's great academic institutions.

Located in the cosmopolitan village of Chapel Hill, Carolina is situated near the approximate geographic center of the state. The beautiful town has been called by Time Magazine "one of the 20 most enjoyable places to live in the United States."

The school itself is the oldest state university in the nation, first admitting students in 1795 while George Washington was President. However, it was not until after Reconstruction that Carolina began making the rapid progress that has lifted it to the top of Southern education.

There are currently 14 schools at Carolina and more than 70 departments and other academic affiliated divisions and institutes.

Strong in both the humanities and the sciences, the University also has a School of Business Administration of special potency, commensurate with the growing industrial might of the mid-South.

An integral part of the University is the Division of Health Affairs, a six-fold center that includes a four-year medical school, dentistry school, pharmacy school, school for nursing and a public health school. All are located in the North Carolina Memorial Hospital, a teaching center for hundreds of clinics in 100 North Carolina counties.

Among the dozens of institutes and specialized programs affiliated with that division are the Health Services Research Center, the Hand Rehabilitation Center, the Child Development and Mental Retardation Research Institute and the Dental Research Center, each of which is one of only a few centers of its kind in the country.

Carolina is one of the largest and top-ranking universities in the nation. A recent rating of graduate schools by the American Council on Education put 12 UNC graduate departments in the highest category and 12 in the second highest. This made Carolina the leader of all universities, public or private, in the Southeast.

Alan Carter of the ACE describes Carolina as "the leading Southern university, a liberal voice in the region."

In annual choices made by Southern graduate scholars in the Rockefeller grants, more select graduate study at Chapel Hill than any other place.

The University is continuing to grow as it strives to keep pace with the changing world of today. Growth has been especially tremendous in the last 20 years. Those two decades have seen the establishment of the School of Journalism, the School of Business Administration, the Carolina Population Center, the WUNC-TV educational television station, the Ackland Art Center and a new computer system.

In that same time, buildings have multiplied; student enrollment has reached nearly 20,000; the faculty has grown to over 1,200; new courses have been added to the Curriculum and old ones revised; adult education courses have expanded; and scholarship and development programs have grown.

Here are some other facts of interest about one of America's great universities:

—Carolina's Morehead Planetarium was the first planetarium on a university campus in the world. It features special programs and exhibits and is a training base for U.S. astronauts. The unique Planetarium Sundial allows one to determine the correct time anywhere in the world.

—Thirty-one of North Carolina's 50 governors have been Carolina graduates.

—One of the best-known organizations on campus is the Carolina Playmakers. Former members of the Playmakers include Thomas Wolfe, Paul Green and Betty Smith.

—James K. Polk, an 1818 graduate, became the 11th President of the United States.

—The Institute of Government on campus is a training center for city, county and state officials and employees. It is also involved in research and consultations for state and local governments.

—The University's television network feeds programs into North Carolina public schools.

—In a traditional program of student self-government, undergraduates have their own legislature, system of honor courts and student publications. These include a daily newspaper, "The Daily Tar Heel."

—Another feature is the Institute for Research in Social Science, an organization performing fact-finding duties in sociology, economics, humanities, statistics, journalism and other fields, including race relations, urban studies and regional development.

But perhaps the most outstanding feature of the University is the gentle way the new has been blended with the old to form one of the most beautiful campuses in the world.

Ivy-covered buildings and tree-lined walkways surround spacious, grassy greens where students lounge between classes. Tall pines cover south campus where modern buildings are under construction.

In direct contrast are Gerard Hall, built in 1837, and Old East, the oldest state university building in the nation. The cornerstone to Old East was laid in 1793 and the dorm was dedicated as a national shrine in 1966.

Other famous and beautiful spots around campus are the Old Well, the Davie Poplar, the Carolina Inn, the botanical gardens and Gimghoul Castle.

It's no wonder the late artist William Meade Prince once called Carolina and Chapel Hill "the southern part of heaven."

OUTLOOK

The Indians will be fielding one of their most experienced teams in years with 28 lettermen returning, 16 of them starters last season. Four of those returnees were All-Southern Conference players last year. They are center Joe Montgomery, guard Stan Victor, defensive end Ronnie Chappell and kicking specialist Terry Regan. The offensive line should be exceptionally strong. There is good talent and fine depth at those positions. Bill Deery returns at quarterback, but the other backfield spots are up for grabs. John Gerdelman and Doug Gerhart head a list of a dozen prospects for those positions. The big problem defensively appears to be the secondary. There is depth and experience at all the other positions.

OUTLOOK

Maryland recorded its best record (5-5-1) in 10 years last season and Coach Jerry Claiborne will be shooting for the first winning mark since 1962 this year. The Terps return 28 lettermen, 15 from the defense. Maryland led the ACC in total defense last season. Biggest problem spots will be the offensive line and defensive end. Leading the returnees is Paul Vellano, an All-ACC defensive lineman last year. Other key players on defense will be safety Bob Smith and lineman Randy White. Louis Carter, Jamie Franklin and Monte Hinkle are top performers at halfback while both Al Neville and Bob Avellini are accomplished quarterbacks. Frank Russell, who caught 30 passes last year, should be the top receiver.

Tigers adapted well to a new offensive formation (Power I) and a new odd-man defense last spring. Mizzou should have depth in backfield, with tailback Tommy Reamon spearheading the running game. Senior quarterback John Cherry has good backup help in Ray Smith and sophomore Steve Pisarkiewicz. Bengals' offensive line is veteran outfit, led by All-American center candidate Scott Anderson and tackle Jim Schnietz. There are gaps on defense which should be led by middle guard Frank Caldwell, linebackers Scott Pickens and Lynn Evans, and defensive back John Moseley.

OUTLOOK

With 29 lettermen back from the 1972 team, which capped a fine 7-3-1 regular season with a smashing 49-13 Peach Bowl triumph over West Virginia, the Wolfpack outlook for this fall is considerably brighter than it was a year ago. A tough schedule, which includes four bowl teams, serves, however, to put a curb on excessive optimism. The offensive unit, which set 34 school records last year, should again be the team's major asset, returning 9 of 11 starters. As was the case in 1972, defense poses a problem, as does finding a punter, a long-range field goal kicker, and a kick-off man. In brief, the Wolfpack, provided certain holes are plugged, should be formidable again.

OUTLOOK

New Coach Fran Curci has a good corp of returning regulars at Kentucky, but depth may be a problem. James McKay returns at quarterback, but may be pressed for the job by Ernie Lewis and Mike Fanuzzi. Jack Alvarez and Ray Barga, the top two receivers last season, are back along with the number one and three rushers, Sonny Collins and Doug Kotar. Darryl Bishop is an all-star candidate at safety and huge James McCollum has been installed at nose guard where he should be a potent force. The defensive flanks and corners are manned by veterans as well. Curci will use a five-man front most of the time, while his offense is a combination of the I, veer and split back.

OUTLOOK

A bright picture at Tulane keeps getting brighter as Coach Bennie Ellender and his staff begin their third year. The Green Wave wound up 6-5 last season, or 7-4 if you want to argue about the fifth down loss to Miami. The other four defeats were all to bowl-bound teams. Twelve of the 15 players who carried the ball in 1972 will be back, as will 12 of the 13 men who caught any passes. The whole left side of the offensive line and the center return. A half-dozen defensive starters will have to be replaced, but Tulane had good depth last year. Top returnees should be 6-5, 260-pound tackle Charles Hall, a sure-fire superstar, and quarterback Steve Foley.

OUTLOOK

Experience returns at nearly every position but again, as in 1972, a lack of qualified depth could pose a problem for Sonny Randle and the Pirates. Six All-SC players return in Crumpler, Summerell, Eure, Kepley, Troupe, and Markland, so the Pirates should field one of the most highly potent first-team offensive and defensive units in the nation. But due to the depth problem, Randle says, "In order to have another good season we positively must remain healthy." Carlester Crumpler, the SC Player of the Year and Athlete of the Year, will undoubtedly be one of the nation's most genuine All-America candidates. If they achieve their potential, QB Carl Summerell and LB Danny Kepley are also capable of attaining high post-season honors.

OUTLOOK

Based on 17 returning starters, size and experience along the offensive front, and only two graduates off the defensive unit, Virginia football fortunes should take a dramatic turn for the better in 1973. The experienced offensive line will average 6-4 and 235 pounds. Center Paul Ryczek and guard Tom Glassic are the top all-star candidates. Last year UVa threw 372 passes, a conference record, so the improved line will be welcome. Harrison Davis, Scott Gardner and George Allen Jr. will direct the offense with speedster Kent Merritt leading the rushers. Last year the Cavaliers managed 327 yards per game offensively, but gave up 345. Gone is three-year DE starter Billy Williams, but Virginia does return a veteran linebacking corps and a strong secondary.

OUTLOOK

Clemson enters its 77th football campaign under Jim "Red" Parker, who will be the Tigers' 19th head coach. Parker came to Clemson via The Citadel and Arkansas A&M, where he established winning records at both schools. Parker's first order of business at Clemson was to install the veer offense, a system he had been highly successful with at The Citadel. Parker found 34 lettermen, including six offensive and seven defensive starters, in the Clemson contingent. The new Tiger coach also found he had a shortage of running backs and inexperience in the secondary where three starters, including two who had started 33 consecutive games, were missing. Parker figures the defensive ends will be Clemson's best position, but either size or inexperience plague the other defensive spots.

OUTLOOK

Wake Forest has a new coach in Chuck Mills and he has promised a new look to the Deacons this fall. Mills had strong offensive teams at Utah State and says the Deacons will be a passing team this year. He also has installed a five-man front on defense with two linebackers, three defensive backs and a rover. Kit Basler, Chuck Ramsey and Andy Carlton are the top quarterback candidates. A big plus for the Deacs is fullback Frank Harsh who had an outstanding varsity debut last year as a freshman. Four starters return to anchor the offensive line. Only five starters return defensively, however. Linebacker John Hardin may be the best defensive player for the Deacs.

OUTLOOK

The 1973 edition of the Duke football team will stress youth and should be improved over the past several years, although the schedule remains extremely difficult. A majority of the players will be sophomores and juniors with only four or five seniors playing in starting roles. Although the Blue Devils will be young, they will have more experience than in the past. As many as 14 sophomores started in more than one game last year. Heading the offense will be guard Bruce Snyder, quarterback Mark Johnson, fullback Mike Bomgardner, and tailback Mark Landon. Linemen Maurice Corders, John Ricca and Ernie Clark top the defensive front. Other key players on defense will be linebackers Keith Stoneback and Jim Horning and defensive backs Ronnie Hoots and Buster Cox.

CAROLINA'S GREATEST PLAYERS

Ron Rusnak never scored a touchdown, threw a pass, nor made a game-saving tackle in his Tar Heel career. Yet last season he became one of the most honored players in Carolina's long football history.

Rusnak, the sensational offensive guard from Prince George, Va., became only the fourth UNC player to be named a consensus All-America. He made all four of the top All-America teams—the Associated Press, United Press International, Football Coaches of America, and Football Writers of America.

Only Andy Bershak in 1937, Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice in 1948, and Don McCauley in 1970 were regarded as consensus All-Americas among Carolina's other top players.

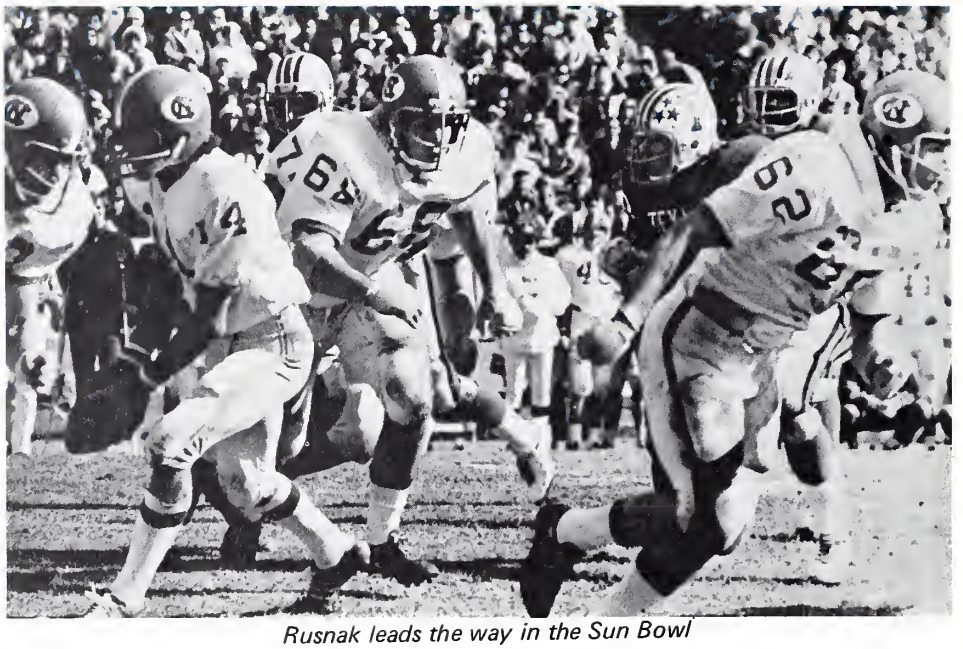
There are, of course, numerous Tar Heel stars who have received All-America and all-conference recognition. In fact, a list of Carolina football greats would rank among the finest anywhere.

Rusnak's performance last year was one of the big reasons Carolina posted a 10-1 regular season record and defeated Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl. His rugged play in the line opened the holes for the Tar Heels' strong ground attack.

Bershak was the first in a long line of standout ends at UNC. "Handy Andy" excelled in all phases of the game and also as a student. Unfortunately, he died an untimely death only six years after graduation.

Justice, of course, is Carolina's most famous player and ranks as one of the all-time great stars of the college game. He led his teams to three major post-season bowl games and set NCAA records for total offense and punting.

However, statistics cannot begin to tell the Justice story. He completely captured the imagination of football fans throughout the South. Choo Choo tee-shirts were sold by the thousands, he made the cover of many national magazines, and even a song was written about him.



Rusnak leads the way in the Sun Bowl

Many of Justice's rushing and scoring records were eventually broken by McCauley, the dynamic running back of recent years. McCauley did not have great speed, but made up for that with tremendous balance and determination.

Don's last game in Kenan Stadium is one of the most famous in UNC history. He ripped a good Duke defense for 279 yards rushing and five touchdowns, leading a 59-34 rout of the Blue Devils.

As mentioned earlier, there have been other Tar Heels who have been named to at least one All-America first team. They include guard George Barclay in 1934, tackle Steve Maronic in 1938, end Paul Severin in 1939 and 1940, end Art Weiner in 1948 and 1949, end Ken Powell in 1949, center Irv Holdash in 1950, end Al Goldstein in 1958, and end Bob Lacey in 1963.

This, however, is only a beginning to the list of Tar Heel stars. One of the earliest heroes was guard Ray Farris, who led the 1929 team to a 9-1 record. Johnny Branch was a fine running back here in the early 1930's. Some of the other outstanding players in that era included halfback Harry Montgomery, Harry Dunkle, George Stirnweiss and Sweet Jim Lalanne.

During the Justice years there was a bevy of great players in Chapel Hill. While Choo Choo, Weiner and Powell were the big stars, the supporting cast included such performers as Walt Pupa, Hosea Rodgers, Len Szafaryn, and Ted Hazelwood.

Many of Carolina's later greats went on to outstanding pro careers. This group includes tackle Frank Gallagher, linebacker Rip Hawkins, linebacker Bill Koman, linebacker Chris Hanberger, and halfback Ken Willard.

Junior Edge was the fine quarterback on the 1963 Gator Bowl team, and Danny Talbott performed magic at that position three years later.

With Bill Dooley running the show, Carolina has produced linebacker John Bunting, quarterback Paul Miller, and halfback Lewis Jolley.

The list, of course, could go on. And with the fine players still at Carolina, it is certain to get longer.

Story by Jack Williams

MORRIS MASON

Someone once said the University of North Carolina campus wouldn't be the same without The Old Well, The Bell Tower, and Morris Mason—not necessarily in that order.

The Old Well has been a campus landmark for 178 years. Mason has been here 46 years. The Bell Tower rates a poor third in longevity. It was erected in 1931 and is only 42 years old.

Mason may not be quite as famous as the two University landmarks, but don't try to tell that to the thousands of football players who have passed through Kenan Fieldhouse in the last four and a half decades.

Since 1927—the year that Kenan Stadium was dedicated—Mason has been custodian of the fieldhouse and equipment manager of the Carolina football program. He's the man responsible for the Tar Heels' freshly laundered uniforms and polished shoes.

In the performance of his tasks, Mason has become friend and confidant to the legion of young men who have played the games for Carolina. Many of the old grads drop by to see Morris every time they return to the campus. He always greets them with the famous Morris Mason smile which has made him one of the best loved figures in Carolina athletics.

Believe it or not, Mason has seen every Carolina football game, home and away, since 1928. He didn't travel with the team his first year on the job, but he's been on the sidelines at every game since then.

"I almost missed one game when one of my relatives died," he recalls, "but I hurried from the funeral to the game and made it before the kickoff."

Mason also had a close call on a trip to Charlottesville for a Carolina game against Virginia. "I went to sleep on the train and didn't wake up until the train was pulling into Washington, D.C.," he says. "But they put me on the next train going back toward Charlottesville and I got there in time to help unload all the equipment."

Seeing different parts of the country is one of the things Mason likes most about his job. "I've sure been a lot of places with the teams," he says. "I've been to the Sugar Bowl, the Cotton Bowl, the Gator Bowl, the Peach Bowl, the Sun Bowl and even to the Oyster Bowl."

But Mason admits the place he likes to visit most is Charlottesville, home of the Virginia Cavaliers. "That's because I've been there more than anywhere else," he says, "and have made a lot of friends in Charlottesville. I remember going there in 1929 when Mr. (Chuck) Erickson was a star of the team. He ran for a lot of touchdowns that day."

Erickson later became the Carolina Director of Athletics and one of Mason's biggest boosters. Morris has served under three Directors of Athletics—Coach Bob Fetzer, who hired him; Erickson; and the present leader, Homer Rice.

Mason has gone through 11 coaching changes at Carolina, working under nine different coaches. Carl Snavely and Jim Tatum both had two tenures with the Tar Heels. Mason refuses to single out any of his favorites among players or coaches, but he does flash an unusually big smile when he talks about the late Sunny Jim Tatum.

"A wonderful man," Morris says. "People who said unkind things about Mr. Tatum never took the time to really know him. He came down to my euqipment room one day and said, 'Morris, it sure is hot in here. How do you stand it?' The next day, Mr. Tatum had a fan taken out of his office and installed in my equipment room. It's been there ever since."

Morris calls every Tar Heel player "Mister," even the freshmen the first day they suit up for practice. It's Mister Vidnovic, Mister Lamm, Mister Waddell, etc. It's a strange twist that very few people use the same formality when addressing Morris. He is such a friendly, likeable man that people just naturally call him by his first name.

Morris does admit that Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice, the hero of the 1940s, is very special to him. Justice has maintained a strong friendship with Morris through the years. "Just say he's one of my favorites," says Mason. "I'll never say any ball player is my favorite."

In recalling the Justice years, Morris says, "Mister Justice was a great ball player, maybe the greatest. And he is a wonderful man, too. He didn't try to be no big star off the field. He was just one of the fellows."

Mason doesn't try to impress anyone with his knowledge of football and he has never been a Monday Morning Quarterback. "I don't know anything about playing football," he says. "I just enjoy watching it like anybody else. I don't know one play from another and I never tried to learn. If I did, I might start thinking the coach should have run this play instead of that one.

"I never watch the team practice either. I know a lot of people come a long way to see the team practice. I wouldn't walk from here to the door to watch a practice. I don't want to because I might start thinking I know something."

In 1968, former Tar Heel players and others showed their gratitude to Mason by presenting him a new car in a special ceremony at halftime of a Carolina-Duke basketball game. They also gave him his most prized possession—a plaque which reads, "With deep gratitude for sharing the joys of our victories and suffering the pain of our losses through the years . . ." Underneath are the names of more than 200 former players and well-wishers. Included in the list are such greats as Justice, Art Weiner, Chris Hanburger and Ken Willard.

Mason gives his wife credit for being able to enjoy his work for so long. "This job takes a lot of time to do it right," he says. "Many times I have to work until 2 in the morning to get it done. But no matter what time I get in, my wife's always got a smile on her face, my supper's always ready and she never asks me why I'm late. If I had a nagging wife, I couldn't have done what I've done."

Morris Mason is in the twilight year of his career at Carolina. He will be 65 years old next January and will retire on July 1, 1974. This is his last football season with the Tar Heels.

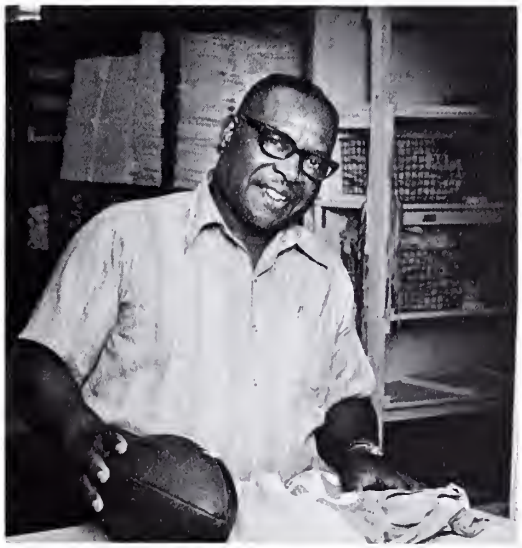
"I don't know what I'll do with myself when I leave here," he says. "I guess I'll fish some. I always enjoyed fishing, but never had much time for it. I hope to come back to see the games and sit in the stands. I've never seen a game from the stands. I've always been on the sidelines at every game."

Morris Mason has watched Carolina play 440 football games, 242 wins and 198 losses. He has been on the Carolina payroll roughly 16,790 days.

And when he leaves, it will be a sad time for Tar Heels everywhere. Morris has walked for so many years in the shadow of heroes that he became one himself.

We proudly dedicate this edition of the Carolina Bluebook to Mister Morris Mason.

Notice, if you will, that we called him mister.



GOAL LINE ANALYSIS

DEFENSE

ENDS

Gene Brown and Bill Chapman, starters on last year's team, are gone, and these positions are question marks. Brown, in particular, had a brilliant 1972 season. The backups a year ago return. They are Ted Elkins and Jon Tessar, and coaches hope they can fill the bill. Two sophs, Terry Beattie and Tim Bialy, are candidates. So is Barry Jarvis.

TACKLES

Depth will be the Tar Heels' main concern at tackle. Two fine players, Ronnie Robinson and Peter Talty, return and appear headed for outstanding seasons. But gone are Eric Hyman, an all-ACC performer, and Robbi VandenBroek. The question is, who will be the backups? Best bet is Steve Baker, a sophomore. Also in the picture is Scott Reynolds.

INSIDE LINEBACKERS

The big question mark at inside linebacker is the physical condition of Steve Early, who underwent an operation last season. If he returns to good form, it would be a big lift to UNC. Terry Taylor appears headed for a banner senior season at the other inside linebacker position. Tommy Jones is a strong candidate. Depth could be a problem at these positions too.

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS

These could be strong positions for the Tar Heels. Jimmy DeRatt, an All-Atlantic Coast Conference player as a sophomore, is back and raring to go. Mark DiCarlo, who had a key pass interception against Duke, also is back, but he's questionable because of an operation he underwent. Gary Cowan and Tom Embrey should split time at the other position. Both played well in 1972.

BACKS

Phil Lamm, a hero of some Tar Heel games last season, is a blue chip back and should be one of the best players in America this season. Remember his 69-yard punt return for a touchdown against Clemson? But Lamm's playmates from a year ago, Lou Angelo and Greg Ward, graduated. These are big shoes to fill and make the backfield a definite question mark. Best bets for starting jobs are Earl Chesson and Kip Arnall, top substitutes a year ago. Other promising players are Tommy Bradley and Phil Daly, who played offense formerly, and Rich Kelly.

OFFENSE

ENDS

These should be very strong positions. Returning at split end are the two top players of a year ago, Earle Bethea and Pat Norton. Both performed exceptionally well. Bethea caught 12 passes in 1972 and Norton six. At split end, Ken Taylor is gone, and he was a great one. But moving up to replace him will be Charles Waddell, who made some great catches and blocks in 1972. Another good one is Andy Chacos.

TACKLES

All-ACC Jerry Sain graduated, but Robert Pratt returns as one of the most highly touted players on the Tar Heel squad. He could well be a candidate for All-America in his senior season. The problem is, who will replace Sain? Joel Bradshaw and John Frerotte are the leading candidates. Newcomer David Jeffers also shows promise. These positions could turn out to be very adequate.

GUARDS

How can you replace Ron Rusnak, everybody's All-America on the 1972 team? There probably is no way. But Carolina does have a great player who starred at the other guard position opposite Rusnak. He's Ken Huff and he's terrific. Senior Billy Newton is the leading candidate for Rusnak's old job. Others in the running at guard are Craig Funk, Billy Wicks and David Barrett, who was shifted from the defense.

CENTERS

Robert Walters, a star at guard two years ago, looks like the best bet to start at center. Coaches think he has the ability to be one of the best in the South. He'll have to enjoy an outstanding season to match the play of Bob Thornton, who graduated. Deke Andrews, who made the long snaps a year ago, is back. So is Gary Ulicny. Another candidate is Andy Harris.

BACKS

HOMER RICE

A.B. degree from Centre and a B.S. and M.E. degree from Eastern Kentucky State College.

Following his graduation, Rice played three seasons of professional baseball in the old Brooklyn Dodgers' chain. Then he began his career as a football coach.

He coached at Wartburg Central High in Tennessee, Spring City High in Tennessee and Highlands High in Ft. Thomas, Ky. In 1961, he received an award as "The Winningest Football Coach in America." His fantastic high school coaching record was 101 wins, nine losses and seven ties.

Rice then went into college coaching and performed the same kind of tricks. He was an assistant coach at the University of Kentucky and then at the University of Oklahoma, where he coached an explosive offensive machine.

In 1967, he was named head coach at the University of Cincinnati and what a job he did at that school! His 1968 team was so explosive that it led the nation in pass offense.

Rice is a leader in the Chapel Hill community. He is on the administrative board of the University Methodist Church. In 1972, he was campaign chairman of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Community Chest Drive.

He is on the national conference staff of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Rice wrote the Huddle Prayer for the Pop Warner Little Scholars National Program.

A recently published book, Homer Rice on Triple Option Football, is drawing raves from football enthusiasts across the country.

He has authored two other books on football. The first, How to Organize Football Practice, was published in 1962. The other, The Explosive Short T, was published in 1963.

Rice is married to the former Phyllis Wardrup of Middlesboro, Ky., an alumna of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. They have three lovely daughters. Nancy, 22, is married to Steve Hetherington and now lives in California. The other girls are Phyllis, 20, a student at the University of Oklahoma, and Angela, 17.

EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

With interest in Carolina's athletic program reaching an all-time high this year, the University's Educational Foundation appears headed for big things.

As the Tar Heel sports program has grown through the years, the Foundation has done likewise. It is the enthusiasm and generosity of Foundation members that makes possible all athletic scholarships awarded by Carolina.

"Interest reaches a new peak every year," says Ernie Williamson, the Foundation's executive vice-president. "There are many reasons for this, but the most important has been our great success in all sports during the last few years."

The Educational Foundation currently has over 2,500 members who finance a scholarship program that costs over $500,000 a year.

"Since its inauguration in 1938, the Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, for over 2,000 student-athletes," says Williamson. "The majority of these men are anxious to return contributions which would enable us to award scholarships to others."

Williamson has always contended that a donation to the Foundation is not specifically a donation to athletics. He says that the high caliber young man who is awarded an athletic scholarship is a great representative of the University.

Williamson feels the overall bonus is in helping a worthy young man obtain a college education. Athletics come second.

Any donation to the Educational Foundation is welcome. However, membership in the Rams Club is restricted to those who contribute $100 or more.

"To my knowledge, Carolina is the only school which has an endowment program for athletic scholarships," adds Williamson. "At the present time we have seven endowed scholarships and ten members who are contributing toward an endowed scholarship. Under this program, we have life memberships available and also accept wills and bequests to the athletic program."

Foundation members receive priority on seat locations for football and basketball. A special room on the south wing of Kenan Field House serves as a meeting place for Rams and their families. This area is open two hours before football games and provides a lounge and picnic facilities for those who come early.

"A Foundation membership is a badge of prestige and loyalty to the University," Williamson points out. "Many of our finest members, however, did not necessarily attend Carolina. They just heard about our program and felt it was worthy."

It is important to point out that all donations to the Foundation are tax deductible.

ORIGIN AND INCORPORATION

Three loyal and athletic-minded University of North Carolina alumni met in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure at Raleigh in December of 1938 and organized the Educational Foundation, Inc.

The men were John Umstead Jr. of Chapel Hill, Max Abernethy of Raleigh, and Benton Stacy of Reidsville.

A charter was drawn with these three men as the incorporators and submitted to the late O. Max Gardner, who had his law firm clear it with the Internal Revenue Department as a charitable organization. The charter was issued December 7, 1938.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Educational Foundation, Inc., is to raise funds for providing scholarships or grants-in-aid at the University to worthy and qualified high school students with athletic ability.

The Educational Foundation, Inc. operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It has the blessing and good will of all the University administration and, in its unique field, occupies a status similar to that of the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation, and other money-raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

The full amount of all donations of Foundation members is used for scholarships and grants. The organization has no administrative expense.

Ernie Williamson

Carolina's man for all seasons is popular Ernie Williamson, the executive vice-president of the Educational Foundation.

Regardless of the time of year, Ernie is always on the move—speaking to Foundation members, talking to prospective members and following all of Carolina's athletic teams.

Williamson is a Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. The native of Crewe, Va., played one season of football here under Carl Snavely and was regarded as an outstanding tackle.

He was lured away to professional football and played with Los Angeles and Washington before being sidelined with a knee injury.

Ernie returned to Chapel Hill to finish work on his degrees and then went to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. He was an assistant coach there for two years and head coach for three seasons.

He came back to Carolina to accept his present position in 1957. At one time he served as recruiter for the football program.

Williamson loves all sports and is an expert fisherman and hunter.

He is married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va. They have a son, Wayne, 25, and a daughter, Carole, 17.

CARY C. BOSHAMER

Carolina players and coaches have requested that the 1973 football season be dedicated to the memory of Cary C. Boshamer, the great booster of Tar Heel athletics who died last spring at the age of 77.

Boshamer played football here in 1913 and 1914 and spent the rest of his life cheering Tar Heel teams and helping to mold the lives of the young men who played the games here.

A Gastonia, N.C., industrialist, Boshamer gave millions to the University where he fought those early battles in a football uniform.

Two faculty members here hold Cary Boshamer Professorships. There are numerous Cary Boshamer Scholarships and gifts from him to the Alumni Giving Program.

But athletics was his first love and his gifts to the University benefited the athletic program in so many ways. The magnificent baseball stadium which bears his name was one of his greatest gifts. It is an ultra-modern structure complete with dressing rooms, batting cage, a brilliant lighting system and an electronic scoreboard.

His most recent gift to the University athletic department made possible the installation of artificial turf on a football practice field. This field is now utilized by thousands of Carolina students who play a variety of sports there in men's and women's competition. Even the marching band practices there.

Cary Boshamer was a kind and gentle man, loved by all those with whom he came in contact. Tar Heels everywhere miss him so much.

BASKETBALL PROSPECTUS

With All-America candidate Bobby Jones leading a talented front line, the North Carolina Tar Heels are expected to be a strong force in college basketball again in 1973-74.

Coach Dean Smith, starting his 13th season at the Tar Heel helm, predicts a competitive entry in the rugged Atlantic Coast Conference—but cautions that question marks cloud the prospectus.

"We lost an amazing senior leader in guard George Karl and another starter in Donn Johnston," Smith says. "Both will be extremely difficult to replace."

Winner of five ACC and four Eastern Regional championships in the past seven years, Carolina has a storied basketball tradition. Last year's fine team raced to 25 victories, won the Rainbow Classic championship in Hawaii, finished second in the ACC race, and placed third in the National Invitational Tournament in New York. It marked the seventh straight year the Tar Heels have played in a national tournament.

Now comes the new year and a new challenge. Leading the way is Jones, a 6-9 senior from Charlotte, N.C., who is a cinch to make most of the pre-season All-America teams.

Jones gained great prominence in his first two seasons at Carolina and enhanced his reputation with fine play for the United States Olympic team at Munich in 1972 and in the USA-Russian cross-country tour this past spring.

There is a lot of strength in the Tar Heel front court. Joining Jones at the post positions will be junior Ed Stahl, 6-10; sophomore Mitch Kupchak, 6-9; junior Donald Washington, 6-7; and junior Charles Waddell, 6-6.

Returning to the swing position vacated by Johnston is John O'Donnell, a 6-6 senior who was a key player in many games last season. He was largely responsible for both victories over arch-rival Duke. John averaged 6.8 in scoring with 66 rebounds. Other returnees at this position are Bill Chambers, 6-4, and Mickey Bell, 6-5.

The big guard position should be in capable hands with the return of Darrell Elston, 6-4, and Ray Harrison, 6-2.

The biggest problem, naturally, will be replacing the flashy Karl at the "quarterback" spot in the backcourt.

Chief candidates for the job among returnees will be Brad Hoffman, 5-10; Ray Hite, 6-0; and rising sophomores Tony Shaver, 5-11, and Dave Hanners, 6-0. Hite and Hoffman saw considerable action in reserve roles last year.
